SCHOLASTIC CENSUS INDICATES ELECTRA POPULATION 14,000

ELECTRA, TEXAS, April 10.—Plans have already been accepted for the new high school for which bonds were voted Saturday. Page and Brother of Austin are architects. The building and equipment will cost $196,000. There will be 41 rooms, a gymnasium and large auditorium in the building, which will be situated east of Main street and north of the paved highway, which is the only section of Electra without a school building. It is hoped to begin work at once.

The scholastic census, just completed, shows a few more than 2,400 scholastics. This represents an increase of 800 over two years ago. On basis of five people to each scholastic, this would give Electra 14,000 people. Five years ago there were 360 pupils in the local schools.

COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE TEXT BOOKS CONVENES

AUSTIN, April 10.—The joint committee apointed by the regular legislative session to investigate awards of the state text book commission made last December, held its first recess meeting today and began outlining plans for continuing its investigation which was not completed during the regular session. Taking testimony in the case will begin tomorrow, it was announced.

Members of the text book commission, representatives of book companies and state official have been summoned to appear before the committee, Representative R. A. Baldwin, secretary of the committee, stated. Others that may be able to furnish information regarding activites of the commission also will be called, it was said.

Members of the committee who arrived here today expressed the opinion that if irregularities are found in the book contracts, Governon Neff will be called upon to submit the text book matter to the special session for consideration. The governor vetoed the Pope bill passed by the regular session which sought to annull the awards.

Ring Returned But Girl Says She Is Engaged

By Universal Service.

CHICAGO, April 9.—It was an angry girl who today returned a $600 diamond ring to Ben O. Weatherly, vice-president of a large St. Louis dry goods firm. Weatherly had had Miss Stoddard, a pretty St. Louis model, arrested on the charge that she was unlawfully withholding his ring.

"That was an engagement ring and I ought not to have to give it up," Miss Stoddard told the court.

Weatherly denied that they were engaged.

"If we aren't we ought to be," the girl snapped back, as she returned the ring.

TAKE FINAL ACTION ON APPROPRIATION BUDGETS

AUSTIN, April 10.—Final action on appropriation budgets of the College of Industrial Arts and Denton Normal College will be taken this afternoon by the senate finance committee. Hearing given President Bralley of C. I. A., and President Bruce of Denton Normal, was completed this morning. The board of control will appear before the committee this afternoon and submit claims for its budget. All the educational budgets will be completed by tomorrow, it is expected.

MAN ARRESTED IS WANTED IN DALLAS AND OTHER CITIES

NEW ORLEANS, April 10.—John J. Harrington, 55, wanted in Dallas, Memphis and Oklahoma as a fugitive from justice, according to the police, was under arrest here today and Miss Evelyn York, 20, who came from Oklahoma City in the belief that she would wed Harrington, is under the sheltering wing of a police matron who is devising ways and means to send her home.

Harrington, according to the police, attempted to cash several checks here and telegrams to a bank in Dallas upon which they were drawn developed he had no funds on deposit.

Miss York, whose presence in the city was learned after the arrest of Harrington, explained to detectives that she had only recently met him and that he had promised to marry her if she came to New Orleans and that she had used all of her own funds to make the trip.

ORDER ROADS TO REDOCE RATES TO PDINTS IN TEXAS

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Railroads serving Houston, San Antonio, Dallas and Sherman, Texas, were ordered today by the I. C. C. to put into effect on June 5 reductions in all rates on peanut and cotton seed oil.

The measure of the reductions was fixed by a requirement that after June 5 rates from Memphis territory to the four Texas cities be limited to 47.5 cents per 100 pounds; from St. Louis territory 59.5 cents per 100 pounds; from Nashville territory, 65 cents, and from Macon territory, 68 cents. It was further provided that 10 per cent should be taken from these assigned maximums to make them conform with the general rate situation in view of the general freight rate reduction of July 1, 1922.

From producing points in Arkansas and Louisiana to the four Texas cities the railroads also were required to make corresponding reductions which would give a proportionate charge considering the situation that would arise after the reduction from Memphis, St. Louis and other points.

SECRETARY OF STATE OF VERMONT IS KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY TRAIN

WITNESSES TELL OF SEALY "CLASH" AT AUSTIN TRIAL

AUSTIN, April 10.—Taking testimony in the case of John Miller, charged with assault o murder connection with the Sealy, Texas, street clash last September, got under way before District Judge J. R. Hamilton today. Three witnesses of the more than 100 present, had been called before 11 o'clock this morning.

Joe Luehs, newspaper reporter, was the first witness called by the state. Scenes surrounding the street battle and of Sealy were exhibited by Luehs. Jack Hilboldt, second witness, testified concerning a conversation between Joe Saylor and John Miller which was alleged to have occurred some time before the street encounter. Hilboldt stated he heard Saylor ask Miller who reported him to authorities regarding certain alleged law violations.

"Old Man Schaffner, and I'll get even with him," Miller was quoted as saying.

Immediately following Hilboldt's testimony, Saylor was called to the stand and admitted talking to Miller and quoted Miller as making a similar statement.

Judge Hamilton this morning had not acted upon motion for new trial in the case against Foster Bell growing out of the same encounter.

NOT JOINING LEAGUE THROUGH BACK DOOR DECLARES HARDING

WASHINGTON, April 10.—President Harding was said at the White House today to be wholly unable to discover any logic in arguments advanced in som quarters that adhesion by the United States to the permanent court of international justice would put the United States into the league of nations "through the back door."

The issue presented in the international court proposal, it was said, had in the opinion of the president been somewhat beclouded by the friends of the league who endeavored to find in it a possibility of getting the United States into the league.

The attitude of the administration towards the league, it was added, had not in the least changed and the president feels that was clear at the time the world court proposal was made to the senate that the United States would incur no responsibilities under the league covenant.

A question as to whether the United States might join the league if the league covenant were revised was described by the white house spokesman as impracticable, inasmuch as no intimation had been authoritatively received that any revision was contemplated and also because there was always the question of who would do the revising.

PRESIDENT IS ANXIOUS FOR VISIT TO ALASKA

WASHINGTON, April 10.—President Harding hopes to visit Alaska this summer when he goes to the Pacific coast on his speech making tour.

Although definite arrangements have not been made, it was said at the white house today that he probably would be able to leave for the trip June 20 and reach Alaska about July 15.

MEET TO DISCUSS PLANS FOR COLLEGE

FORT WORTH, April 10.—Preliminary plans for the newly created Texas Technological College, which will be located "somewhere in west Texas," were considered at a meeting here today of the directors. Among matters discussed was the choice of a president. At the conclusion of the meeting President Amon G. Carter said nothing had yet been done on any point.

New Officers Qualify Hodgins Police Chief; Extend Water Mains

The appointment of Geo. H. Hodgins as chief of police and the approval of new peace officers was the first official act of the city council Monday night following the induction of John T. Young and J. H. Patton into office as aldermen.

Following the oath of office the council went into executive session and cleared the room of about 50 on-lookers, some of whom were expecting appointment, who were there to see the new administration seated. Mr. Hodgins was called and advised of his appointment as chief of police and submitted a list of names of patrolmen which he had selected from 237 applications, he said. The council offered no objections to the following appointments suggested by Commissioner Young and Chief Hodgins:

John Craig, night chief; F. E. Johnson, desk sergeant; Dave May, city detective; T. E. Pirtle and Luke Hart, detectives; D. D. Melver, C. M. Willis, C. W. Lewis, Bud Knight, William Ogle, J. E. Lewis, Tom Roark, Mace Davis, O. M. Tanner, J. E. Robertson and W. B. Scott, patrolmen.

Mr. Hodgins explained to the council that the new officers were taking office on probation and unless their services proved entirely satisfactory that he would consider it his duty to recommend a change. The new police force will be uniformed according to the announcement made Monday night. The discussion of salaries was brought up and upon recommendation of Commissioner Young, the salary of Chief Hodgins was set at $300 a month, the same salary that has been paid prior to his appointment. Salaries for the patrolmen were named at $125 with the intimation that they would be increased if merited.

Immediately following the installation of commissioners and police officers, the new commissioner and chief accompanied by the night peace officers went to the city hall to relieve the retiring officers. Chief Hodgins relieved Night Chief Glenn at the city hall about 10:30 and assigned the new officers their territory. Mr. Hodgins in his first speech to the force made it plain that he would not hesitate in dismissing any member of the force who did not prove entirely satisfactory.

Appointment Deferred.

The question of the appointment of a city recorder and special prosecutor was held over until next meeting. Commissioner Young announced that John Davenport had agreed to serve in this capacity until some appointments could be made.

Following the approval of the changes recommended in the police department by Commissioner Young, J. H. Patton, commissioner of parks and public health, recommended two changes in the health and sanitary department; the park department will remain the same for a while, Mr. Patton said. Dr. Duane Meredith was recommended as city physician to succeed Dr. W. P. Lowry. P. A. Alverson was recommended as quarantine officer to take the place of W. H. Jackson, who is now serving in this capacity. The council voted to approve the recommendations made by Commissioner Patton. Other appointments in the park and health department will be withheld until a further investigation is made, Mr. Patton said.

Call For Paving Bids.

The council authorized the city clerk to call for bids for the paving of Ninth street from Brook to Baylor. Work has already begun on the paving of Ninth from Denver to Baylor and the addition of the other block will connect up with the paving already begun on Ninth street.

The public hearing of property owners on Avenue F to consider the kind of paving to be laid on that street was closed when a petition from taxpayers asking for bithulithic pavement was presented. Representatives of the property owners presented the petition with the information that it represented the majority; no protests were offered. The contract will go to the

PROTEST USE OF CHURCH FOR INSTALLING WIRELESS

WESEL, April 9.—An appeal to the pope has been made by the Catholic population of Wesel and Emmerich, in the Belgian occupied zone, according to German sources, against the occupying militi re authorities making use of church steeples for the installation of wireless telegraph systems.

SUGAR AT HIGHEST LEVEL SINCE 1920 NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 10.—The highest price for raw sugar to be recorded here since the high levels of 1920 was touched today, 5 7-8 cost and freight.

The continued closing down of centrals in Cuba, showing an out-turn below expectations, appeared to revive apprehension of a shortage in supplies. A better inquiry was also reported for refined sugar, accompanied by renewed buying of Cuban raws by European and Canadian interests. This brought the domestic refineries into the market and a considerable business was reported.

ROSS AND GOODE TO SEEK BAIL RELEASE BY HABEAS CORPOS

FORT WORTH, April 10.—Tom Ross and Milt Goode, stockmen who are charged with the murder of Dave Allison and H. L. Robinson, veteran range inspectors and peace officers of west Texas, will seek bail Thursday through habeas corpus proceedings at Lubbock, according to word received today by the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association headquarters.

Allison and Robinson were shot and killed at Seminole April 1. They were there to attend a session of the grand jury investigating cattle thefts.

The plea of Goode and Ross, it is announced, will be self-defense.

CAPTURE CHIEF OF STAFF OF THE IRISH IRREGULAR FORCES

DUBLIN, April 10.—Liam Lynch, chief of staff of the Irish irregulars, has been captured, it was officially announced this afternoon.

Lynch was captured by the free state forces this morning at Knocknasalen, Lear Newcastle, after an engagement in which he was seriously wounded.

Eamon de Valera, the Countess Markievicz and others prominent in the republican movement, are reported to have been with Lynch when he was shot. The pursuit of these leaders is continuing and the belief is expressed that their capture is imminent.

MAN THOUGHT DEAD DENIES REPORT AND MYSTERY ONSOLVED

SULPHUR SPRINGS, TEXAS, April 10.—Authorities today resumed their efforts to identify the body of a man with the head shot off, found three miles from here Sunday. A number of persons yesterday said the body was that of E. Douglas, a painter of Pittsburg, Texas, but Douglas reported from Texarkana last night that he was not dead.

SALT LAKE CITY BANKER IS SLAIN; MAN SURRENDERS

NEPHEW FAMOUS GUN INVENTOR ADMITS HE DID SHOOTING.

GIVES OFFICER GUN AND PLEADS SELF DEFENSE

Was Brother of Wife of Victim and Had Gone to Home After His Sister.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, April 10.—Investigation of the circumstances surrounding the slaying late yesterday of Benjamin F. Ballantyne, prominent Salt Lake City banker, was continued today by the police following their announcement last night that Mariner F. Browning, nephew of John F. Browning, famous gun inventor, had admitted he killed Ballantyne in self defense.

The shooting occurred in the presence of the Ballantyne family at their home in a fashionable part of the city. Mr. Ballantyne died at a hospital a few hours after he was shot. John Browning, Jr., son of the inventor, who lives in Ogden, Utah, and Mariner Browning, both were held today pending the outcome of the police investigation. The were booked for "investigation."

Mariner, according to the police, confessed he killed Ballantyne, following a quarrel when the latter drew a revolver from a bookcase.

When the police arrived at the home, Mariner, it is alleged by the police, drew a revolver from his pocket and handed it to one of the officers, saying: "I'm the man who did the shooting, here's the gun."

"I also had a gun," asserted John Browning, the police declared, as he handed them a pistol. "He beat me to it."

John told the police he was standing between Mariner and Ballantyne when the former fired one shot. "Ballantyne had a gun and drew it forward when my cousin shot. He fired over my shoulder," he said.

In a dying statement to police officers, Mr. Ballantyne declared he was unarmed and had no revolver at the time he was shot. Asked whether he had been drinking, he replied "Yes," but shook his head in the negative to the question, "Were you drunk?"

The Brownings went to the Ballantyne home yesterday with W. H. Reeder, Jr., attorney of Ogden, shortly after arriving in Salt Lake City, according to the police. Both John and Mariner, the police said, maintained that they had come to take Mrs. Ballantyne to her father's home in Ogden, following domestic troubles in the Ballantyne family.

Mrs. Ballantyne is the daughter of the gun inventor. A family statement was issued last night by James E. Ballantyne, father of the slain man, in which he denied that there had been any trouble between his son and Mrs. Ballantyne. He declared that a complete investigation would be demanded and that the slayer would be prosecuted. The slain man resigned two weeks ago as teller of the Utah State National Bank. He is survived by three children.

FORT WORTH MAN HELO FOR MURDER OF KATY EMPLOYE

DENISON, TEXAS, April 10.—Luther Looper of Fort Worth was charged with the murder of Sam E. Kapac, 23, Katy machinist, who was stabbed to death with a pocket knife here last night, in justice court here today. He is being held in the county jail at Sherman to await examining trial here Thursday. Looper was arrested in Collinsville following the slaying during a fight at a local garage over an automobile. Kapac is a world war veteran and has a wife and two children in Philadelphia. The body was sent to his mother at Harrisburg, Pa., today for burial.

PRICE OF GASOLINE IS INCREASED TO COVER ONE CENT GALLON TAX

KANSAS CITY, MO., April 10.—A tax of one cent a gallon, which was imposed when a recently adopted ordinance went in effect here today, drew from local officials of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana announcement that the company would increase its price to absorb the tax. The increase brought gasoline to 13½ cents a gallon. Other oil companies declared themselves prepared to raise the price of gasoline.

AGREE ON DETAILS FOR LEASING HOSPITAL

AUSTIN, April 10.—Details of the contract for leasing the Kerrville American legion memorial hospital have been agreed upon by legal and hospital divisions of the United States veterans bureau and final action on the contract will be taken by the federal hospitalization board which meets in Washington tomorrow, Chairman S. R. Covell of the board of control, announced today on his return from Washington where he conferred with veterans' bureau officials. Provisions of the tentative contract were not made known.

CORDIAL WELCOME EXTENDED AT POINTS ALONG THE ROUTE; DINNER IS SERVED AT DUNCAN

Staff Special to the Times.

DUNCAN, OKLA., April 10.—Duncan turned out in force and in style to greet the Wichita Falls trade trippers when they arrived at this, one of the most important stops of the schedule. Members of Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs greeted the Wichitans at the station, escorted them in a parade through the downtown section and then to the Christian church where the women folks had prepared a dinner for which the hungry travelers were quite ready.

Talks by P. P. Duffy, secretary of the Duncan Chamber of Commerce and representatives of the local clubs and by Hubert Harrison and J. C. Mytinger of Wichita Falls followed the luncheon.

The local speakers told of bond issues for good roads in Stephens county as a part of a hard surface system from Wichita Falls to Oklahoma City. They also declared their intention of capturing still more honors at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair in the fall.

The trippers turned back south after leaving here with Hastings as the first scheduled stop of the afternoon and Lawton as the objective for the night. Oklahoma points visited included Comanche and Waurika, where the Wichitans were well received.

PETROLIA, BYERS, WAURIKA ARE VISITED BEFORE NOON

Staff Special to the Times.

WAURIKA, OKLA., April 10.—Within a few hours after the appointment of a new police force for Wichita Falls, 120 of that city's business men left town Tuesday. They left in disguise with long cloaks to hide their identities.

It was no such surreptitious departure as the above paragraph might indicate. In fact, much tinkling of brass and sounding of cymbal attended the embarkation, for it was to carry greetings to a score of northwest Texas and Oklahoma towns that the trip was made. The appointment of a new police force was merely a coincidence.

Petrolia was the first stop and the first parade was staged there. Burton Stayton extended Wichita Falls' greetings and the trippers cut loose with the howdy love which is the official brand of noise for the trip. Geo. Platt is some trader.

At Byers the singing was much better, being done by several hundred school children who greeted the trippers and formed a happy escort for the parade. Roy Pace of the Texhoma Company was the speaker at Byers, expressing Wichita Falls' appreciation for the hearty greeting.

A trial run over the new line of the Valley brought the excursionists to Waurika, Wichita Falls' newest neighbor. Here G. A. Nelson spoke Waurika's welcome and her gladness at the new link with Wichita Falls. S. A. L. Morgan responded and urged Waurikans to patronize Wichita Falls' two new institutions, the Texas-Oklahoma Fair and the Junior High School. A band concert and songfest followed the speaking.

DENY APPLICATION FOR A RECONSIDERATION OF MILEAGE BOOK RULING

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Petitions asking for reconsideration of the recent ruling requiring railroads to sell interchangeable mileage books at reduced rates were denied today by the interstate commerce commission.

The action closes the record in the mileage book case insofar as the commission is concerned and unless the petitioners take their objections into the courts the books will go on sale May 15 on nearly all class one railroads, except those in the eastern district. The date of mileage book installation in the eastern district will be delayed finally by action of the federal court at Boston before which all of the railroads in the east with the exception of the Baltimore & Ohio, have presented a demand for a restraining order. The Baltimore & Ohio joined with various southern and western roads and the American farm bureau federation in seeking the rehearing which was denied today.

No explanation was attached by the commission to its order dismissing the petition. The mileage book tickets, sale of which was abandoned by the railroad administration during the war, were ordered reinstalled by the commission acting under terms of a resolution introduced by Senator Watson, republican, Indiana, and passed at the last session of congress. The commission ordered the railroads to sell books good for 2500 miles of travel and interchangeable between railroads at a reduction of 20 per cent below regular passenger fares.

TURKISH ASSEMBLY HAS RATIFIEO LATE MOSUL AGREEMENT

By Associated Press.

ANGORA, April 10.—The Turkish nationalist assembly has ratified the so-called Chester railway and mining concession.

Negotiations for the "Chester concession" in Turkey, which includes the development of the Mosul oil region and the construction of 1200 miles of railroad in the Mesopotamian fields, were first instituted by President Roosevelt. It takes its name from Real Admiral Colby M. Chester, now retired, who was sent to Turkey in 1908 to obtain for United States interests certain valuable priority right in the Turkish oil producing district.

The former Turkish government some time ago approved the grant but action by the nationalist government at Angora has been awaited.

American capital would be used, under the agreement, to extend the Bagdad railroad to the borders of Persia, while rail connections would be afforded to the chief cities on Turkey.

The Mosul oil field has been a bone of contention between Great Britain and the United States for some time and at the Lausanne conference the British delegation was especially insistent that its claim to the territory be recognized.

MARKS TERMINATION OF TWENTY YEARS OF EFFORT

By Associated Press.

LONDON, April 10.—Approval by the Angora government of the Chester project marks the termination of 20 years of effort by American interests headed by Rear Admiral Colby Mitchell Chester retired, of Washington, to obtain commercial railway and mining concessions in the interior of Turkey.

The main proposals of Admiral Chester and his associates who include General George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama canal, Kermit Roosevelt and other influential men, are for the construction in Anatolia of more than 2,000 miles of new railways, the reconstruction of Angora upon the lines of a modern American city, the building of ports and quays and the exploitation of mineral rights throughout those portions of Asia Minor still undeveloped.

Payment for this extensive development and rebuilding is to be given by the Turks in the form of mineral, oil and other concessions. It is expected the American corporation, called the American Development Company, will be occupied for many years in this work, giving employment to thousands of natives as well as to many American technicians.

The project met with a determined opposition from the start from British, Russian and French interests, to all of whom similar concessions are declared to have been successively promised by the Turks and it is foreseen here that today's action by the grand national assembly of Turkey at Angora must inevitably react upon the prospects of concessionaries and promoters of other nationalities. It is even said that the huge grant by the Kemalists to the Americans is partly responsible for the present tension between Angora and Moscow as the Russians are declared to have been promised a similar economic monopoly.

The likelihood of the United States carrying off whatever economic spoils the new Turkey has to offer as the result of her recent victory in Anatolia has given the British and French interests much worry. Their chambers of commerce have been urging their nationals at home to attempt to halt the progressive commercial penetration of the enterprising American business men. The French have been as vehement in their protest as the English.

STATE MINING BOARD IN SESSION AT AUSTIN

AUSTIN, April 10.—Texas production of lignite coal during the past year is estimated at 893,000 tons and bituminous production at 561,000 tons in the annual report of State Mine Inspector Bruce Gentry, submitted to the state mining board in biennial session today. Routine matters were considered at the meeting. Adam R. Johnson, Austin, is chairman of the board.

TERRITORY ADJACENT TO BIG GRAHAM WELL PRESENTS BUSY SCENE

GRAHAM, TEXAS, April 10.—There seems to be a race between the Gulf Production and the Ralco Oil Company as to which one will spud in first. The Ralco people have a rig nearing completion some 700 feet southeast from the big Gulf-Hockaday well, while the Gulf company is rushing construction on its derrick 400 feet southeast from its No. 1 Hockaday, and is also moving in material for its third location about 1,000 feet west from the big well. Other locations are being made in all directions from the gusher.

The new pool presents a busy scene. A battery of six large storage tanks have been set to assist in taking care of production while the Gulf company's four-inch pipe line has been connected up, and with the big Fairbanks-Morse pump is handling the oil very nicely.

Some big lease deals are pending and it is probable that several other companies will acquire holdings in the neighborhood of the gusher within the next few days.

TAKE FIRST DEFINITE STEPS FOR SEYMOUR IRRIGATION PROJECT

SEYMOUR, TEXAS, April 10—The first definite steps toward the proposed system of irrigation to be established above Seymour on the Brazos river was set in motion yesterday, when Chief Engineer R. A. Thompson and Resident Engineer H. M. Clark, of the Wichita water improvement district, made a preliminary survey of the site which is about 30 miles west of Seymour. The location is just below Cooper Island at the W. T. McClain place in Knox County. Mr Thompson reports that a natural spillway is available at this site similar to the one on the big irrigation dam of the Wichita irrigation district and that a dam 55 feet high at this site will provide approximately 200,000 acre feet of storage which is sufficient with contributary area for 100,000 acres under cultivation.

This survey was made for the convenience of the state board of water engineers, who will view out the location during this month with prospect of making a state and federal survey of the proposed location were A. P. Kerr, I. O. Newton and Lem Bellows, of Seymour as representatives of the Seymour Chamber of Commerce.

Young was awarded the prize for the best ram, without competition.

Americans Like Their Breakfast At London Hotel

By Universal Service.

LONDON, April 10.—The Westminister Gazette reveals today a managerial tragedy inflicted upon the Hotel Metropolis by the "millionaire pilgrims" now returning to the United States on the Mauretania.

The hotel management quoted an "inclusive figure" for the members of the party, and thinking that the Americans had been so long on the continent that they would probably be able to eat only a small breakfast, put down a nominal charge for that meal.

But when the guests had departed after four days the management found to its amazement that the Americans had shown such a fondness for the English breakfast that they ate up the days profits before they left the breakfast table.

"EVOLUTION" AGAIN PROMINENT BEFORE KENTUCKY READERS

WINCHESTER, KY., April 10.—"Evolution" was back on page one of newspapers in this state today.

Members of the board of governors of Kentucky Wesleyan College were here to hear Ralph de Maree, instructor of physics and mathematics at the institution, and decide whether he is to be permitted to finish the semester after he declared in a chapel address last Thursday that the history of organic evolution and the biblical account of the creation are not in conflict.

Professor de Maree had resigned, effective in June, to go to California to make his home, prior to the chapel address. He was suspended Saturday.

Since William Jennings Bryan attacked evolution in an address before a joint session of the 1922 general assembly and that body became divided on a bill to prohibit instruction relative to the subject in public schools the theory has proved conducive of argument all over Kentucky. The legislative action favored by the anti-evolutionists, styled the "monkey bill" by the opposition, was defeated by a narrow margin.

SERIES OF THREE BOMB EXPLOSIONS COST TWO LIVES

CHICAGO, April 10.—A series of three bombings and an assassination by shooting last night and early today cost the lives of two men. Two of the bombs caused little damage.

Soon after a bomb exploded near an apartment building, killing Stanley King, a musician who was passing on his way home from a theater where he was employed, a fusillade of shots in the north side Italian district not far from "Death Corner" killed Cosimo Polumba. Five bullets passed through his body. Two other bombs were exploded in widely separated localities.

While the police attributed the bombing to "black handers" there was no evidence to show a connection between the outrages.

'FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH' IS FOUND BY SCIENCE

European Discovery, Easily Used at Home, Restores Vigor Quicker Than Gland Operations.

Those who suffer from nerve weakness and lack of vigor will be interested in a European discovery which restores full physical power quicker than gland operations. It is a simple homo treatment in tablet form, absolutely harmless and yet the most powerful invigorator known. Acting directly on important nerve centers, glands and blood vessels, it often produces amazing benefits in 24 to 36 hours and gratifying results within a week. Physicians say it gives speedy satisfaction in cases that defy all other treatment. Elderly people declare it is a real "fountain of youth."

Distributed under the trade name of "Korex compound" the discovery has been tested thoroughly in America and the manufacturers have received a veritable flood of letters of praise and gratitude from revitalized men and women in every state. Patients past 70 testify that they were quickly restored to them the vigor of the prime of life.

Knowing that this news may seem "too good to be true," the distributors invite any person needing the compound to take a double-strength treatment, sufficient for ordinary cases, with the understanding that it costs nothing if it fails. If you wish to try this guaranteed invigorator, write in strict confidence to the Melton Laboratories, 2798 Massachusetts Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. You may enclose $2 or simply send your name, without money, and pay the postman $2 and postage on delivery, in either case, if you report "no results" after one week, the laboratories will immediately refund your money. This offer is guaranteed by ample bank deposits, so nobody need hesitate to accept it.—adv.

CONEY SLAUGHTER ALLEGED LOOTER OF BANK IS ARRESTED

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—Coney C. Slaughter, alleged looter of the Mercantile National Bank of Pueblo, Colo., and for whom the authorities had been searching eight years, was arrested last night at Phoenixville, Pa., and brought here for arraignment today before a federal commissioner.

Department of justice agents who found Slaughter working in a sanitarium said he had agreed to waive extradition and return to Colorado at once.

Slaughter is alleged to have embezzled more than $350,000 of the bank's funds while acting as its cashier in May, 1915.

Slaughter went to the sanitarium the Pennhurst institution for the feeble minded, about three months ago. With him was a young woman he introduced as his wife. The pair had since been living at the institution.

Slaughter was understood to have left a wife and two children in Colorado. Sanitarium officials said that he had said he was C. V. Landrey, which government agents said was the name of the woman known as his wife.

SLAUGHTER WAS SON OF CITIZEN OF DALLAS

DENVER, April 10.—Coney C. Slaughter disappeared from Pueblo in May, 1915. He had been cashier of the Mercantile National Bank, Pueblo, and an investigation disclosed a shortage of more than $352,000. His father, William B. Slaughter, president of the bank, was arrested and tried, charged with complicity in the alleged embezzlements. He was acquitted.

Search for the younger Slaughter had been carried on in many sections of the country. His father's home was in Dallas, Texas, and the son was trailed through that state. At one time it was said he had crossed into Mexico disguised as a woman.

Since Slaughter's disappearance the Mercantile Bank, which had been regarded as a strong institution, has not reopened. At the time it was closed its deposits amounted to approximately $1,500,000.

Through the bank's receiver its stockholders have been paid back about 80 per cent of the losses.

Trial of Defendant in Federal Court On Liquor Charge Does Not Bar State Court Trying Him on Same Charge

Judge P. A. Martin in delivering his charge of the grand jury impanelled Monday afternoon stated that a man who had been tried in the United States district court on a prohibition law violation charge was not immune from prosecution in the state court on the same charge.

This issue has been tested out several times on appeal both to the court of criminal appeals in Texas and the circuit court of appeals at New Orleans. It has been held that a trial in either of the state or federal court does not entitle a man to be upheld in his plea of former jeopardy.

Judge Martin stated to the jury that liquor law violations were frequent in Wichita county according to reports that had been communicated to him and that while the jury was investigating cases which involved a violation of the state prohibition act that they need not consider whether the man had been tried in federal court.

The court further announced that if a defendant had plead guilty to a violation of the national prohibition act or had been found guilty upon trial that this would be admissable in evidence against him in the state court and would carry much weight with it.

A large number of defendants who were tried in the federal court here during the past 10 days are also under bond in the state court to await the action of a grand jury.

By Associated Press.

BOCHUM, April 10.—Distribution of the first carloads of grain sent by soviet Russia for Ruhr relief began today in the Bochum district. It is announced that other shipments of grain from Russia are arriving at Hamburg. A huge demonstration in honor of the arrival of the soviet grain took place on the von Moltke square which was beflagged with red emblems.

PLAN OBSERVANCE OF PATRIOTIC DAY APRIL NINETEENTH

DALLAS, April 10.—Plans for a country-wide observance of Patriotic day, April 19, by special exercises and community meetings at which better citizenship will be stressed, were announced today by the committee on citizenship of the American Ba. Association.

The association has been working in cooperation with patriotic organizations in all states. These local clubs have been in touch on many instances with county and state bar associations and arranged for speakers to talk on the constitution and patriotism.

EL PASO DEMOCRATS ACTIVE TO PREVENT DEFEAT OF TICKET

EL PASO, TEXAS, April 10.—The regular democratic organization was ready to get out at least 4,000 votes today in the general election, owing to insistent rumors that the Ku Klux Klan was planning to scratch certain candidates on the ticket headed by Senator R. M. Dudley for mayor, and write in the names of klansmen.

The Dudley ticket, which was victorious over a Ku Klux Klan ticket in the Democratic primaries has no open opposition and ordinarily only a perfunctory vote would be cast. Late Friday, the day before the city school board election, the klan suddenly sprung two candidates after letting it be understood it would make no fight. Both klan candidates were defeated although they mustered approximately 3800 votes.

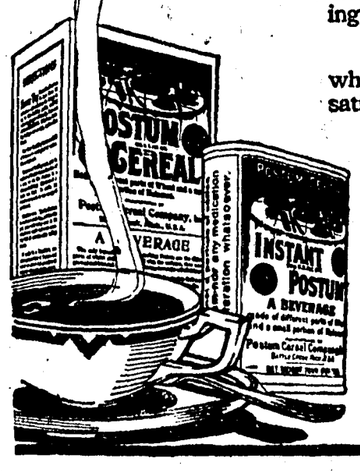
Tomorrow and All the Rest of the Week

No need to say, "I wish I dared"

How often have you heard the expression, "I can't drink coffee; it doesn't agree with me!" Yet there is an undeniable satisfaction in having a hot drink with meals.

Postum supplies satisfaction and safety, both. No need to deny yourself the pleasure of this fragrant, invigorating cup through fear of nervous disturbance afterward. Postum is rich and comforting, and there's nothing in it that can harm anybody.

Why not follow the example of the thousands who have left off the risks of coffee, for the assured satisfaction and safety of Postum?



Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared; made by boiling fully 20 minutes.

TWO WOMEN ARE SERIOUSLY INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

BEAUMONT, April 10.—Mrs. Ellen C. Mann, 36 years old, wife of the manager of the Kirby Lumber Company's plant at Browdell, Texas, and Mrs. L. A. Burleigh, 30 years old, of Pickering, La., are in the hospital here, both with fractures of the skull and in a critical condition as the result of an automobile accident near Jasper, Texas, Monday. Jack Royal, 18, of Browndel, was badly bruised but suffered no serious effects. The car which struck a washout, was completely overturned, pinning all three occupants beneath it.

RHINELAND SEPARATIST LEADER GOES TO PARIS

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—The presence in Paris of Dr. Dorten, the Rhineland separatist leader, is exercising the newspapers which maintain, notwithstanding denials at the foreign office, that he is here with the knowledge if not by investigation of the government to give an opinion on the Ruhr situation.

The correspondents learn that he has told French officials they have made a mistake all through the occupation by not applying force ruthlessly. As an illustration, Dr. Dorten told the newspaper Le Cablogramme, that Fritz Thyssen was originally not hostile to the French. The magnate, going before M. Coste, said he was prepared to collaborate with the economic mission if he could be assured of serious support from the French. Inasmuch as he could get only vague statements from M. Coste, Herr Thyssen after waiting a week, said he had decided to obey Berlin.

A few hours later the German industrialist was arrested. This act, according to Dr. Dorten, had the effect of uniting all the Germans in their resistance to the occupation.

Arrest of an Obscure Chinaman Reveals World-wide Ramifications Of Big "International Dope Ring"

By Universal Service.

LONDON, April 10.—An obscure Chinaman, Tiew Yui Kim, arrested in a miserable cabin of a Chinese junk, is responsible for revealing the world-wide ramifications of the "international dope ring," and the enormous traffic in drugs of all descriptions between England, France and Germany, with the United States, Japan and China.

The police here were staggered by these revelations and have been forced to reconstruct the whole of their ideas in connection with the drug traffic. The facts so far uncovered are:

1. That British manufacturers are exporting large quantities of morphine and heroin yearly.

2. That these drugs are exported to the continent, bought there and shipped either to Japan, China or the United States, and smuggled in.

3. That the ring has headquarters in various leading seaports of Europe.

4. That many prominent London merchants are leagued in this infamous traffic with agents on the continent, in the United States, China and Japan.

One of the merchants engaged in this trade was convicted in London recently and sentenced to prison as the result of a careless slip which brought his drug dealing activities within the English law. This man, Howard Montagu Gogden Humphrey, 32, cloaked his infamous transactions under what was ostensibly a cutlery business, and a score of other prominent merchants have been dealing in drugs behind the smoke screen of legitimate trade.

Soon after the war Humphrey linked up with service of big Chinese firms who sought to purchase huge quantities of prepared morphine and heroin. Humphrey's part in the deal was to visit Paris and buy quantities of cocaine, morphine and heroin, an easy matter in the French capital, or in Berlin, or Darmstad or Cologne, or Bucharest (where a factory was recently opened), and arrange for xport to his principals in China.

Under the opium convention it is illegal to export into China (except under license) any dangerous drugs, but Humphrey merely did what hundreds of other merchants are still doing. He reverted to the old, hidden in consignments of cutlery, time ruse of smuggling in the drugs.

He and his fellow conspirators had elaborate codes by which they exchanged messages and arranged for shipments to a Chinese company at Amoy, a firm that had paid him sums like $35,000 at a time for drugs which he succeeded in forwarding.

A vigilant customs officer at Hong Kong one day a few months ago searched a Japanese ship and found hidden in a consignment of hardware 2,400 ounces of cocaine and 2,500 ounces of morphine, equivalent to 2,100,000 doses of morphine and 4,375,000 doses of cocaine.

Tiew, who was captured then, had a number of incriminating documents in his possession. These led to the arrest and conviction of Humphrey, and the revelation that other merchants were engaged in drug running.

Within a few weeks the police of Scotland Yard have discovered and communicated to the police of the world that Humphrey was merely one of many smugglers, and that scores of well known English firms are engaged in exporting morphine, cocaine and other deadly drugs to the east and to America.

Scotland yard officers declare that Humphrey made his fatal mistake when, owing to the illness of his wife, he posted a letter in London to the Chinese firm, as that brought his dealings under the English laws. Had he posted that letter as he intended to, in Paris, he would have been immune.

Following the arrest of Humphrey, several merchants fled from the country, including one known as the "Chinese millionaire." This man lived luxuriously in a west end hotel with three suites at his disposal. He was always attended by three Chinese servants, two of them always travelled with him in his high powered automobile, and they were always armed.

The "Chinese millionaire" never bought drugs himself, but he financed two or three men, one a former captain in the British army and another said to be a nephew of the Gaekwar of Baroda. The latter was caught with cocaine in his possession some months ago and sentenced to six months imprisonment.

WILL INVESTIGATE HERRIN MINE RIOT IN THOROUGH WAY

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., April 10.—Investigation of the Herrin mine riots "from top down" in secret sessions from which the public and all press men will be excluded, will start this afternoon, Representative McCarthy, chairman of the house investigating committee, announced this morning. Among the first witnesses, he said, would probably be Governor Len Small, Adjutant General C. E. Black, Colonel Sam Hunter and Attorney General Brundage.

Today's session of the committee will be preliminary and no witnesses will be called until tomorrow, Mr. McCarthy said. He explained that the committee meant business and for that reason had decided on secret sessions so that each witness called would testify independently of every other—would tell a story uncolored by the testimony of other witnesses.

Besides the closed hearings here, Mr. McCarthy said the committee had decided to hold open sessions at Herrin where alleged members of the mob would be called. There would be no attempt there, he said, at secrecy.

Hearings at Herrin, he added, would be held on week ends, during the regular recesses of the legislature.

SINGING CONVENTION AT BOMARTON ON SUNDAY

BOMARTON, TEXAS, April 10.—The annual Baylor County singing convention convened at Bomarton Saturday night and Sunday. The convention was a success in every way. Not more than two-thirds of the people could get in the school auditorium where the convention was held. Several distinguished singers attended including Prof. Jim Gaither of Cleburne, W. A. Sims of Decatur, L. D. Huffstutler of Midlothan and L. B. Cornelious of Fort Worth. The music rendered in quartets and bass solos by the above named visitors was a rare treat. The convention bought 100 Cornelious' Glory Gleams books for the convention.

The convention elected C. W. Loe, Otto Harrison, L. L. Dunn, Arch Holms and C. B. Sawyers as delegates to the Brazos Valley district singing convention that meets in Mogargle, Archer County, the third Sunday and Saturday before in April. The next Baylor County convention was carried to Westover, and meets second Sunday in September.

Walter Williams, Georgia Owens, D. A. Bowles and O. Paeks were elected trustees for the Bomarton high school last Saturday.

Rum Parties and Pajama Frolics By School Girls

BLOOMINGTON, ILL., April 10.—Children's rum parties and pajama frolics of boys and girls from Bloomington's leading families, staged in homes from which the parents were absent for the evening, will not be aired in court, it was predicted today as Lester Martin, state's attorney, continued his investigation of alleged moonshine liquor orgies in the high school sets.

Sons and daughters of prominent families poured through Mr Martin's office yesterday in a steady stream to explain what they knew about the revels laid bare in reports turned over to the state's attorney by two federal investigators who have been working here for several weeks. As a result of the investigation Mr. Martin ordered a series of raids which have already netted 35 arrests.

The carnival of juvenile delinquency reported by the government investigators led to raids on two small hotels where they charged girls of high school age had registered and entertained men at liquor parties in their rooms.

PROTEST ADMISSION OF WIFE OF THE PRESIDENT OF SOVIET GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Granting of admission to the United States to Mme. Ekaterina Kalinin, wife of the president of the Russian soviet government, would "lower our dignity as a nation in the eyes of the whole world," the National Catholic Welfare Council declared in a letter to Secretary Davis published today. The council urged the labor secretary to deny admission to Mme. Kalinin, who has announced her intention of coming to America to lecture in behalf of the Russian Red Cross work among orphans.

The refusal of the soviet government "to entertain the plea made by our government in the case of Monsignor Butchkavitch," the council declared, showed the "contempt" in which that government holds the "unexcelled charity" already extended by the United States to the needy in Russia.

TEXAS WOMAN FINDS HEALTH

Mrs. W. H. Strawn of Dallas, Who Tells How to Have Perfect Health.

"There were times when I felt so bad and skinny, I was ashamed to go out and meet my friends," says Mrs. Strawn, popular resident of Dallas. "I weighed only 108 pounds But now I am taking on weight and new life. Ironized Yeast did it. It is amazing what it has done for me. I now weigh 126 pounds. It means so much to me, because 127 pounds was my weight before I married. My husband says I am now more like the girl he married eight years ago, and my lost strength of six years standing is coming back."

No discovery in the field of medicine has aroused more comment than that of the principle embodied in Ironized Yeast for building firm flesh on thin, anemic people and restoring the strength and vigor of health. Ironized Yeast will calm tired enrves and nurture shrunken tissues; you will soon know the joy of a hearty appetite, good digestion, rosy cheeks, plump limbs and buoyant spirits. These are the things Ironized Yeast has given to thousands of others, and is guaranteed to give to you. Palace Drug Store recommends Ironized Yeast and will refund the purchase price if you are not entirely satisfied with results.—Adv.

ENGINEER KILLED IN T. & P. WRECK; OTHERS ESCAPE

COLORADO, TEXAS, April 10.—Engineer Price was killed but no passengers hurt when Texas and Pacific train No. 15 westbound was derailed 200 yards west of the station here this morning. Only the locomotive left the rails, the assigned cause being a split switch.

HUGO STINNES AND WIFE HELD UNTIL BAGGAGE IS SEARCHED BY FRENCH

DORTMUND, April 10.—Hugo Stinnes and his wife arrived in this city today after having been detained at Scharnhorst by French railway guards who took them from their berths in a night train. They were released after the officials had searched their baggage.

Herr Stinnes, who had just arrived in Berlin from his country home, took the night train for Muelheim, where his chief industries are situated. When the train reached Scharnhorst, which is the first rail point under French control, four French railway guards entered the sleeper and demanded to know the number of the Stinnes compartment. They roused the industrialist and his wife and led them to the baggage car where the couple were locked up.

This is Herr Stinnes' second trip to the Ruhr since the occupation. The French authorities are said to have been watching for him and his agents and only recently they intercepted one of his private couriers, seizing a private paper which the magnate was forwarding to his representatives in Muelheim.

ASSOCIATES OF STINNES ARE SERIOUSLY AGITATED

BERLIN, April 10.—Whether the French merely intended to perpetrate a joke on Hugo Stinnes when they held up and detained him with his wife as they were entering the Ruhr region this morning or whether their purpose was to retain him as a hostage was a matter which seriously agitated the personal associates of the industralist in Berlin today.

Aside from the news that he and Frau Stinnes had been taken out of the sleeper attached to the Berlin-Essen Express at Scharnhorst and locked up in the baggage car, no further details were known in Berlin up to noon.

Despite the fact that Herr Stinnes has many friends and confidents in the ranks of the French industrialists, he is reported to have steadfastly declined to listen to indirect overtures made to him from French sources and which it is reported only recently were becoming more insistent.

This Laxative Works Fine on Old People

Thousands have kept themselves healthy with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

ADVANCING age with its subdued ambitions and strivings could be made very happy if only good health accompanied it, and the basis of good health, as everyone learns upon reaching the age of 60, is the regular daily movement of the bowels. If it can be effected through the food you eat, the water you drink and the exercise you take, so much the better. But if nature will not operate it must be assisted or sickness will follow. Neglected constipation causes the blood pressure to go up 20 per cent, and that is the forerunner of hardening of the arteries. It makes rheumatism and gout worse, too.

The ideal constipation remedy for people of advancing years is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is gentle and mild, and does not cramp or gripe. It is a mistake to think you need a violent salt or powder or pill, calomel, coal-tar drugs and such things. They purge and weaken you, and their reaction tends to make you more constipated than before.

Now try the milder method. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect with repeated use, and increased doses are unnecessary. Mrs. E. M. Burgess of Enfield, N. C., who is 73, keeps herself in good health with it, and Mr. Charles Chorman of Stapleton, Staten Island, N. Y., wasted fifteen years and considerable money on other remedies before finding steady relief with Syrup Pepsin.

Use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin yourself the next time you suffer from constipation, biliousness, headache, sleeplessness, indigestion, piles or night cramps. Many thousands of elderly people use nothing else, and it costs them less than a cent a dose. Druggists have sold it successfully for 30 years, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

Front Porch Swing vs. Automobile

By NEA Service.

MUSKOGEE, OKLA., April 10.—Bring back the old-fashioned living room table.

Bring back the front porch swing and, if you want real, romantic joy again, take out the one-horse shay.

Thus will the home return to its former glory, asserts Mrs. V. Janet Heckman, teacher and mother of Helen Heckman, "Oklahoma's Wonder Girl." And, to assure the development of character and fineness in our youth, she adds, beware of falling a victim to the automobile.

Mrs. Heckman has written articles and books on children and their development, and from her studies has concluded this age of automobiles and petting parties has been ruinous to our youth.

Auto to Blame

"The automobile, one of the greatest and most useful of our modern inventions, yet highly destructive to our youth, has robbed the home of its former charm and interest to the child and, in many instances the parents as well," she says.

"It has led them into places of amusement unthought of or unheard of before, and divided the interests of the family.

"The passing of the living-room table in so many of our modern homes is the reason for so many delinquencies in boy and girl of today. With its passing, the fineness of our youth has suffered, their character undeveloped.

"No longer do we have the home-like picture of the father on one side of the table, the mother on the other, with their sons and daughters grouped about reading from constructive books of an evening, discussing, exchanging and weighing thoughts and passing judgment upon their values.

MRS. V. JANET HECKMAN

Generalship Needed.

"With parents no longer like generals, drilling and training their young recruits, the home is losing its foundation for strength and falls in the purpose for which it was intended.

"After all, the modern boy and girl are really a reflection of the home. For is this not an age of parental irresponsibility? Has not the parents' indifference, as a rule, caused their children to drift from their influence into the modern maelstrom of pleasure?

"With the reestablishment of the substantial reading table in the home, with broadening literature for the child growing in constructive thought together, and with the introduction of the study and practice of good music, we will hear less of juvenile delinquencies."

Letter From Alice Hamilton, Bridemaid at the Wedding of Her Sister, Leslie Hamilton, and John Alden PrPescott, to her friend, Elizabeth Stokley

Dear, Dear Betty:

Only when I am the bride herself, and perhaps not even then, will I ever have the thrill that I had as a bridemaid at my sister Leslie's wedding yesterday.

You see, Betty dear, I had a secret knowledge of a blighted life.

I knew that, although Karl Whitney was standing bravely smiling at the other end of the line of ushers, he had received a thrust in his heart from which he would never recover.

How true it is, how very true it is, that truth is stranger than fiction!

There stood that splendid young man, much better-looking than the bridegroom, his face pale with emotion, but with a dauntless courage he held himself erect and only I could see that underneath it all he was being tortured in a way that had never been accomplished by the Spanish Inquisition.

I could not find it in my heart to forgive my sister Leslie had she not, poor darling been utterly unconscious of the depth and breadth and height of the love which Karl Whitney was even then silently laying at her feet.

I do not think that I shall ever forget, however, the look of gratitude which came to me from his sad eyes.

(Oh, Betty, you never saw in the face of mortal man such wonderful eyes as those of Karl's.)

As Leslie came up to the altar and was met by John and his best man and the ushers had arranged themselves at the side, I had a chance to look across at him and received his thanks for putting the pearls—his pearls, dear Betty—about my sister's neck.

Oh, Betty, you will never believe this, but as Leslie put her other hand rather convulsively to her throat and caught Karl's pearls.

Could anything be more dramatic—more tragic; and to think that only I and Karl Whitney knew!

Betty, if you put this in your new story, it will make you an author probably of one of the six best sellers, and you will have to divide the money with me.

I could tell at just what point of the ceremony Karl began to get himself under control. He looked over to me and a half smile curved his lips and I kknew that my hero was himself again, and that he was saying in his heart:

"Oh, lost love, even though you are bride of another, I will be your devoted friend so long as my life shall last."

At that moment, Betty, I named him Sir Galahad and I knew that he was whispering to himself, "My strength is as the strength of ten because my heart is pure."

I am afraid, Betty, that you and I will never either of us be the recipient of a love like this. AND I pray God that if we do, we shall not throw it away for the dross of some other love that is not so beautiful, even if we do it as unconsciously as Leslie has done.

Don't think from this letter that I consider John—I expect that I will have to call him Brother John from now on—a bad man. In fact, I consider him, as men go, above the average; but only once in a century perhaps is a Sir Galahad born.

When I see you, I will tell you further about this. I can not tell you some of the things that have happened; they are too scared to put on paper. Particularly that moment in the vestry when Karl took me up in his arms.

"Dear little Alice," he said, "after this I shall have to treat you as a real grown-up woman, but today I am going to kiss you as though you were really and truly the little girl that I have known and loved all my life."

And then, Betty, he kissed me, long and lingeringly.

It is a kiss I shall remember to my dying day.

I am afraid, Betty, dear, that it has spoiled for me all other kisses; that he has spoiled for me all other men.

And to think he has dedicated his life to my only sister!

But it is something to have known of a great love, even though it be not mine. ALICE.

Tomorrow: Beatrice Grimshaw writes her wedded friend, Sally Atherton. Forebodings at a gorgeous wedding.

Three Styles of Collars for Summer Wear

Three collars that are expected to be fashionable for summer are shown on the models sketched.

The low-cut collar is shown on tailored twill frocks for street wear and on simple silk dresses. The other two collars are seen on afternoon and evening gowns as on summer dresses of sheer material that will not be crushed out of shape beneath a coat.

Especially smart and adaptable is the variation of the bandanna knotted on one shoulder.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY MONDAY FOR BIRD HAMRIC

Bird Hamric was the honoree at a surprise birthday and "500" party given at the A. A. Hamric home on Harrison street Monday evening, with his mother as hostess.

Mr. Hamric came home about 8:30 to find the house darkened, and almost immediately discovered a flicker of candles from a big cake, wentering the dining room table. The lights were turned on then and the company revealed itself—a score or more of his friends who had been invited to spend the evening. Tables were arranged for "500," the house having been attractively decorated in cut flowers and potted plants for the party. In the games, Miss Christine Hamric won high score among the young ladies and C. H. Burnett the high score among the men. After the games the hostess served brick ice cream and angel food cake to the following: Messrs. and Mesdames R. F. Hamric, Dan Blackburn, C. H. Burnett, A. J. Lester, L. A. Childs, Earl Knight, Claude Williams, A. G. Deatherage, and Eugene Nicholson; Misses Christine and Lois Hamric, Nona Jones and Goldie Williams; Messrs. Bird Hamric, G. F. Seaman, J. L. Eggleston, W. ## First Baptist Circles Hold Bible Study Sessions Monday Afternoon

The eight circles of the First Baptist Auxiliary held their regular monthly Bible study meeting Monday afternoon in the various homes of members, with various business and social features. The accounts follow in order:

Circle One met with Mrs. E. W. Napier at her home 906 Burnett. Mrs. R. C. Smith led an interesting Bible lesson from the text book, "Period By Period," and twenty members answered roll call as follows: Mesdames Wilhite, leader of the circle; Elliott, Wade, McIntyre, Carter, J. J. Lory, Goodfellow, Allen, R. C. Smith, Mathis, Frank Morgan, John Moffatt, Brooks, Jackson, Gildwell, Barringer, Gibson, Napier, McIver and Miss Porterfield.

Circle Two.

Members of Circle Two met with Mrs. T. J. Taylor, at 1108 Lamar, Mrs. Fooshee leading the Bible study on the "Life of Moses."

During the business session Mrs. Hall made a talk on the needs of Buckner Orphanage, in connection with the home box to be sent, and it was decided that the circle members would make dresses for the older girls. The personal service report was unusually good, and the meeting closed with prayer. There wers 22 present.

Circle Five.

Mrs. W. W. Brown was hostess to the members of Circle Five at her home, 1513 Twelfth street, Monday afternoon, when the Bible lesson followed the "Period By Period" textbook. Sentence prayer was led by Mrs. Wright, those present including Mesdames Ralph Hines, E. D. Trevathan, Detlefs, Ell Morgan, E. H. Uhrich, L. M. Forster, M. E. Stripling, A. W. Everts, W. A. Freeman, M. C. Vanston, T. A. Key, Rundell, Barnett, Splawn, Webb and Bachman.

Circle Six.

Members of Circle Six met with Mrs. Ernest Smith on Tenth street, and an interesting lesson was opened with prayer by Mrs. O. L. Powers. The members planned a session the coming Monday to be held at the home of Mrs. E. B. Bailey, 1701 Huff avenue, when they will make dresses for the Buckner orphans. Mesdames E. E. Fuller and Homer McGregor led the lesson the Bible, "Period by Period."

TWO MAIL FRAUD CASES CONTINUED UNTIL NEXT TERM

Two cases in which use of the United States mail to defraud was charged in connection wtih the promotion of oil stock in local oil companies were continued by the government Tuesday morning until June 25. Judge Atwell placed the cointinuance order on the minutes.

The first case was postponed on account of the absence of a number of material witnesses which the government stated resided in various parts of the country. The defendants in this case were R. C. Johnston, F. E. Routledge, Anthony Giordano, A. Porter Oakes, F. M. McCarty and James T. Childs.

The same order was entered in the other case in which William and Howard Tucker are named defendants.

Both of these indictments were returned by a federal grand jury in December, 1921.

WASHINGTON BANK CLAIMS IT BOUGHT DRAFT OF COMPANY

The First National Bank of Yokima, Washington, as intervenor in the garnishment suit, styled Witherspoon Company against the First National Bank of Wichita Falls claims that it purchased the draft of Shibbs Williams Company, upon which the suit is based.

The case is on trial in the 59th district court and the local wholesale house seeks to satisfy its judgment against the Shibbs, Williams Company of approximately $1,000 which was secured in a suit over shrinkage in a shipment of apples.

It is stated that the local company paid for the apples before the car was opened but upon opening the car it was found that a portion of the shipment was spoiled. A suit for debt was immediately filed and a garnishment run on the money deposited to satisfy the draft.

Conviction of Victor E. Innes Is Final Chapter in One of the Most Baffling Crimes in History of U. S.

By COLE E. MORGAN
Universal Service Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 10.—When Victor E. Innes completes a five-year term in the federal penitentiary to which he has just been sentenced by the United States district court at Atlanta for using the mails to defraud, he will have settled the score, as far as the courts are concerned, in one of the most baffling of crime cases this country has known. His conviction was reported to the department of justice today.

Yet the veil of mystery that has remained impenetrable for nine years may never be lifted to clear up the disappearance of Mrs. Eloise Nelms Dennis, pretty young divorcee, and her sister, Miss Beatrice Nelms, beautiful young business woman of Atlanta, the last trace of whom was lost when they boarded a train at New Orleans for the west in the summer of 1914.

Only a few weeks ago Innes completed a seven year term in the Georgia state prison for defrauding Mrs. Dennis. He was immediately rearrested for using the mails to carry out those frauds. It is for this that he must serve another five years. His wife, Mrs. Ida May Innes, also served two years in the Georgia penitentiary. She is now reported dying in Oregon.

But what became of the Nelms sisters, daughters of an old Georgia family, remains a mystery.

Captain Fred Watt, chief of the Portland, Oregon, offices of the bureau of investigation department of justice, arrived in Washington today from Atlanta, to add the final chapter to the records of his nine years work on the case.

Watt first arrested Innes, who had been a deputy United States district attorney in Nevada, and his wife, at Eugene, Oregon, in August, 1914, after a nation wide search for the missing Nelms sisters.

The search began when early in July, 1914, Mrs. John W. Nelms, mother of the girls, received a "death note" mailed in San Francisco. The note, purported to have been written by Mrs. Dennis, said she had murdered her sister, intended to kill her brother, Marshall Nelms, and to drown herself.

Mrs. Nelms communicated with the department of justice and federal agents were put on the trail. Marshall Nelms was located in San Francisco, and he took up the search also.

It developed that Mrs. Dennis some time before had been intructed some $20,000 to Innes to invest for her. Later, when she called for an accounting, which was not forthcoming, she started west to see Innes and demand a settlement. She was accompanied by her sister.

Innes and his wife early that year had moved from Portland to San Antonio, where they rented and occupied a cottage on the outskirts of the city. The federal agents secured evidence that the sisters, after leaving New Orleans, the last point from which they wrote their mother, had gone on to San Antonio and visited the Innes cottage in June, 1914. There the trail ended.

A huge meat grinder, too large for family use, and an empty acid carboy, found near the cottage, led to the theory that the sisters had been slain in cold blood, ground to a pulp, and the remains dissolved by acid.

Innes and his wife in the meantime had returned to Oregon and were located and arrested at Eugene. They were jointly indicted by a grand jury at San Antonio for murder, but were never brought to trial. The Texas law requires that a body must be viewed beforo a charge of murder can be prosecuted and no fragmentary part of either body had been found.

Before they could go free, however, Marshall secured warrants for Innes and his wife for fraudulent breach of trust, and the governor of Texas honored a requisition for their return to Georgia for trial. They were tried and convicted.

Innes is now 57 years old. If he lives out his five year federal prison term he will go free.

And thus will end the baffling Nelms mystery.

JUDGE REFUSES TO ACCEPT PLEA OF GUILTY TO CHARGE

Judge Wm. H. Atwell of the United States district court refused to enter the plea of guilty made Tuesday morning by Mack Stout of Byers to a charge of possession of whiskey.

The defendant entered a plea of guilty. The judge then asked him to tell him about the matter. The defendant then stated that he had nothing to do with the whiskey found whatsoever.

The court stated that he had attempted to be open and free with all defendants and that he expected the same attitude from the defendants and refused to accept the plea of guilty and continued the case until June 25.

J. Cox, a 17-year-old lad of Burkburnett plead guilty to the possession of four gallons of whiskey which he said he found on the highway between Wichita Falls and Burkburnett and was fined $25 by Judge Atwell.

INDICTMENT IS SET ASIDE IN CASE OF LOCAL YOUNG MAN

Judge Wm. H. Atwell of the United States district court, Tuesday morning sustained a motion to quash the indictment in the case against Rex Beard. The indictment charged that the defendant transported a Ford roadster across the state line.

When the government began to prove its case it was shown that the car in question was a Ford touring car instead of a roadster. The defendant made a motion to dismiss which was sustained by the court.

A complaint was immediately sworn out and the defendant waived hearing. His bond was set at $1,000, which was perfected.

JOHN L. THURMAN DIES AT HOSPITAL ON MONDAY

John L. Thurman, aged 41, died at the General Hospital at 3:48 p. m., Monday after a brief illness. Death came following a serious operation about a week ago.

Mr. Thurman was a farmer of the Thornbury community, and is survived by his widow, three children, Harold 10, Floyd 4, and George 2, his father, five brothers, and three sisters, all residents of neighboring communities. The funeral services will be held from the chapel of Hines Undertaking Company at 3 p. m., Wednesday, with Rev. Simpson of the South. M. E. Church, officiating. Burial in Riverside cemetery.

LEAVE FOR CALIFORNIA MAKE TRIP IN AUTO

G. D. Lovell, in company with his younger brother, William, Cecil Jenkins and Earl Warne, left this morning for Los Angeles, Cal., in a new Chevrolet touring car. Mr. Lovell is in the employ of the Southern California Engineering & Construction Co. of that city and expects to make some investigations in the Long Beach oil field, preliminary to the erection of a $200,000 low pressure absorption gasoline plant. Owing to the scarcity of men in that part of the country who are familiar with the absorption process of gasoline extraction, Mr. Lovell was advised by his company to bring his operators with him if possible.

PLEADS GUILTY TO TWO CHARGES IN COUNTY COURT

John Spivey entered a plea of guilty in two cases in the county court at law Tuesday afternoon. In a case in which he was charged with carrying a pistol he was fined $100 and costs by Judge Guy Rogers. In the other he was fined $1 and costs in an affray case.

FORMER PADOCAH POSTMASTER GETS YEAR AND A DAY

Edmund L. Wheeler, former postmaster at Paducah plead guilty to the charge of embezzlement of United States postoffice funds before Federal Judge Wm. H. Atwell Tuesday and was sentenced to serve a year and a day in Leavenworth penitentiary.

The indictment charged that on or about February 19, 1922, he misappropriated $1,607 of postoffice funds. The plea of guilty was entered before a jury early Tuesday morning and just before the noon recess the court sentenced him.

Tuesday afternoon trial of another postoffice case was begun. This case is contested.

WILL ARGUE CASE BEFORE U. S. SUPREME COURT

Judge W. E. Fitzgerald left for Washington, D. C., Monday night where he will argue a case before the supreme court of the United States Thursday. The case was taken to this point on an appeal from the United States district court. The case involves the title to some valuable oil land in Young county. On his return from Washington Judge Fitzgerald will spend several days in New York City.

How You Can Remove Every Trace of Hair

(Toilet Talks)

A stiff paste made with some powdered delatone and water and spread on a hairy surface about two minutes will, when removed, take every trace of hair with it. The skin should then be washed to free it from the remaining delatone. No harm can result from this treatment, but be sure it is delatone you get and you will not be disappointed. Mix fresh as wanted.—adv.

PRESIDENT WANTS ANY TAX REDUCTION MADE GENERAL ONE

WASHINGTON, April 10.—President Harding believes that if a reduction is made in federal taxes it should apply to all along the line and not solely to surtaxes.

It is the president's opinion, however, as made known at the white house today after the cabinet had discussed the question that it is too early to analyze the exact nature of the tax situation. Detailed statistics covering the March tax collections have not been made available and until those figures are compiled Mr. Harding believes that it would be difficult to determine the exact course which any downward revision should take.

White house officials said the president supported Secretary Mellon's view that a further reduction in federal tax rates appeared possible, since the total March collections were $463,000,000, or $70,000,000 greater than in March last year.

CHIEF REVOKES COMMISSIONS OF SPECIAL POLICE

The following notice was issued by Geo. H. Hodgins, newly appointed chief of police, Tuesday morning:

"Notice is hereby given to all holders of special police commissions that the commissions expire on Tuesday, April 10, 1923. All persons holding badges are requested to turn them in to the desk sergeant at the police station. Geo. H. Hodgins, chief of police."

Ten Christian Aid Divisions Met Monday Afternoon; Social Sessions

Ten divisions of the First Christian Aid society met Monday afternoon at the homes of members, a social session concluding each meeting.

Those reporting were as follows:

Mrs. Mashburn's division met with her at her home on Eleventh street, where Mrs. Lambreth Hancock led the devotional. Following the program and study session the hostess served ice cream and cake to the following: Mesdames Griswold, Joe Wideman, Lambreth Hancock, Dan McGrath, Griggs, Ford, Ames Morris, M. A. Bundy, G. R. Walker, Craft, Hyatt and F. R. Mashburn.

Division Three.

Mrs. Rentro's division, No. Three, met with Mrs. N. A. Ferguson at 2403 Eighth street, with Mesdames G. C. Johnson and L. P. Taylor joint hostesses. Mrs. C. E. Isle led the devotional and reports were given during the business meeting. Later in the afternoon the hostess served angel food cake and Easter lily ice cream to the following: Mesdames J. E. Strong, C. E. Davis, L. B. Cummings, W. R. Ferguson, W. L. Renfro, T. H. Brown, M. D. Bolton, G. C. Johnson, L. C. Taylor, J. W. Hooper, H. D. Davis, C. E. Isle, T. J. Williams, W. R. Hammond and Jack Williams, and Mesdames C. L. Ferguson, Betty Miller and Hyde, guests.

Mrs. D. A. Wilcoxson entertained the members of Division Five at her home on Monroe, with Mesdames A. E. Yorke and H. C. Wilson, assistant hostesses. Mrs. Floyd led the devotional and after the business meeting the hostesses served thick ice cream and hot chocolate to the following: Mesdames L. C. Tyson, F. M. Conrey, Curtis Graham, J. Ehlers, D. A. Williams, D. C. Walker, W. M. Baldridge, H. G. Lewis, H. C. Wilson, H. W. Pyle, P. B. Curd, O. N. Floyd, A. E. Yorke, Nightingale, Russell, Stocks, Swindle, Raley and Boles.

Mrs. J. T. Camp entertained the members of Division Eight, with Mrs. F. E. Hobson assisting. It was a "birthday" party, and the members put a penny for every year into a little "birthdaye cake." Cake contests and games were later enjoyed, and Mrs. King Davis won a potted plant in one of the former. "Cake" ice cream molds and angel food cake was served to the following: Mesdames Louderdale, Isbell, King Davis, R. E. Hilburn, Coulter, Gold Wilson, Paul Barnett, Fleming, E. W. Carey and C. W. Carey, with Mesdames C. D. Bartlett and O. P. Maricle new members.

Judge W. E. Fitzgerald left Tuesday for Washington City on business, expecting to go on to New York. He will be gone about two weeks.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light because their deeds were evil.—St. John 3:19.

Only the worm of conscience consorts with the owl. Sinners and evil spirits shun the light.—Schiller.

YOUR TRAVELS.

Here's a man who has crossed the Atlantic Ocean 271 times. A sailor? No. He's J. E. Hargraves, English wool merchant. Fifty-three years have slipped by since Hargraves made his first trip from Liverpool to New York. He has seen a lot of changes in ocean vessels. And if he lives another 50 years, he'll have to make the journey by airplane. Or, perhaps, dirigible steered balloon.

The flying machine is destined to make the ocean ship obsolete—railroad trains also.

You read about Hargraves, and this thought probably flits through your mind: "Why is it that this man can cross the ocean 271 times while most of the rest of us never can make the journey even once? Why do some people get all the traveling while the rest rarely get anywhere, have to stay at home?"

Fate has a lot to do with it, though sufficient will power would enable the average person to cross the Atlantic 271 times if we weren't too particular about how he traveled and if he were willing to deny himself sufficiently between trips. But fate is the main factor. Sometimes it seems that we are guided from without more than we can guide ourselves from within.

If you can solve the riddle of why some people are lucky enough to get as much travel as they want, while others are doomed to yawn at home, you have the answer to why a few have too much money and the multitude not enough.

Fate plays favorites. There must be a reason.

Hargraves, Esq., must be sick of the sight of the ocean, after crossing it 271 times on business. Too much is as bad as not enough—sometimes, even worse. The boy who eats too much candy realizes this when he sees mother coming with the castor oil.

The traveling man gets "sick and tired" of the road, yearns to settle down on a farm or in some small town.

The people on the farm or in the small town wish they could travel. That's why they flock to see No. 13 steam in.

The child's heart thrills as he makes his first journey, walking for the first time, from mother to father. Later comes the thrill as he explores the house, still later the yard. Then he stands at the gate or pears through the fence and wonders what lies down the street. Learning that, he yearns for the next town, so on until he wants to explore the world.

Not content with the world, man with telescopes study the stars, dream of flying to them in airplanes.

Desire to travel is such a deep-rooted instinct that it is obvious life is merely a stop-over on an endless journey through eternity.

AN UGLY THING THAT LIES BELOW THE SURFACE.

We are forced to the conclusion from the results of the trials in Williamson county, Illinois, that the citizenship of that county does not condemn the slaying of the non-union miners at Herrin. It must be either this or else the jurors were fearful to return a verdict against the accused men.

Such a condition can only be less shocking than the actual massacre of the miners and must cause concern to all thoughtful citizens. And it is true that there are elements in our citizenship that do preach and practice that might makes right and which do not hesitate to stir up the baser passions in men to gain their end.

We have seen the things that happened at Herrin repeated only on a lesser scale at Mer Rouge, La., and at Harrison, Arkansas. Dominant public sentiment in those communities apparently approves the outrages that have been perpetrated there for the guilty go unpunished. The failure of justice in these cases stand as examples of a fearful thing that lies but a little below the surface of our civilization and for which we have even open apologists.

RESTRICTION OF AUTOMOBILE PARKING.

George Bailey in the Houston Post comments:

"Atlanta has stopped parking in the business district so that busy people may have room in which to transact business. That is inevitable, so Houston may as well prepare for it. Street clogging obstructs the essential activities."

Parked automobiles not only take up a lot of room on busy streets in business districts but they prevent access to stores and other places of business. That is one reason why there is a tendency on the part of some stores to move out of business districts into those less crowded. The time is coming when the parking of automobiles in business districts will be prohibited. The time is also coming when in the very large cities motor vehicles will be barred from some streets.

The father of English literature, Chaucer, spelled as he pleased, just like a stenographer.

STEEL CORPORATION INCREASES WAGES OF COMMON LABORERS.

The United States Steel Corporation will increase the wages of approximately 59,000 day laborers in its employ. These men now receive 36 cents an hour. Their wages are to be increased 11 per cent.

The increase probably results from the restriction of immigration. When immigration was free and unrestricted the great steel companies always had an abundant supply of laborers and as the law of supply and demand operates in wages as well as all other things, wages for common labor were held to a low level. Now with immigrant labor no longer flooding the market in such large numbers competition in the labor market is sending the prices of wages upwards. The revival of business is also a factor in this wage increase. Only last week the wages of thousands of operatives in cotton mills were increased.

There is a tendency toward price advances in many lines. We are again approaching some of the conditions of 1918 and 1919 and 1920 when inflation brought on so much trouble. Speculators are trying hard to get in their hand again. They would like to see another run-away market. But they are likely to find little encouragement from bankers upon whom they brought heavy losses when the public went on a buyers strike in 1920 and 1921.

There is likely to be some advances in the wages of common labor from good economic causes, which, of course, must be reflected in slightly advanced prices of the commodities which their labor produces, but further than this legitimate advance the public isn't going to stand for much before it quits buying.

In spite of the fact that Russian dancers in America get big pay they dance sitting down.

Very few can sing our national anthem all the way, but everybody knows "How Dry I Am."

Best acting in the movies is done by the man who smiles as you squeeze past on his pet corn.

John Howard Payne was lucky. John never heard a saxophone moaning his "Home, Sweet Home."

Some say the Egyptian note in dress shows originality. Others, however, say it shows aboriginality.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

GARDENS.

I walked through a beautiful garden today. There were paths (how wonderful are paths!) and there were flowers of a score or more varieties.

I looked into their colored faces, beaming like the collected smiles of a group of romping children. I can't recall their names, any more than I could recall the names of as many human beings that I might meet in a crowded drawing room. But their dresses—their gorgeous colorings, their fragrance—stay in my memory, and my thoughts of them are full of their own freshness and loveliness.

A home isn't a complete home without its garden.

That somewhere to walk, to meditate, to sit and dream—what other place is comparable to the garden?

Flowers creep into the heart so! Look into the smiling face of a pansy—how delicate and dainty a flower it is. And the rose, how luxurious in its folds of richness, like fine wax. The little creeping vines with their thy blossoms, the cozy violets, the tucked-away varieties that only a garden can afford, how each and all touch and quicken our conscious love of the beautiful.

When I get depressed, I walk into my garden, and there go to the particular flower that I feel will most cheer and inspire me.

No wonder flowers have always had the appeal they have.

As I write, I read that the great Bernhardt has fallen into sleep, and the newspaper says that the place where she lies is covered—buried with flowers.

I came across a beautiful couplet many years ago and when I send flowers to those I love I often quote it. Here it is:

"The very flowers that bend and meet
In sweetenings others, grow more sweet!"

And so when I walk through my garden I think of the things that the flowers might say. And I try to take away that garden in my heart.

THE LISTENER.

Some fellows talk and some can sing
And some were made for listening,
And Old Man Brown was built that way.
He never had a lot to say,
But he could listen, and you'd know
He understood your tale of woe;
And when by trouble you were tried
So you seemed all pent up inside
And bursting, Old Man Brown would sit
And let you free your mind of it.

He wasn't one to cut you short
Or interrupt you, nor the sort
That whispers things will be all right
When everything's as black as night;
You felt the way he stroked his chin
He knew the trouble you were in,
And there was something very queer
About the way he'd turn his ear,
It made you feel somehow that he
Was giving you his sympathy.

Even when you were saying things
You shouldn't—maddened by the sting
Or grief or rage or maybe fear—
He never turned away his ear;
He'd let you go, and nod his head
As though believing all you said,
And when you'd spilled your tale of woe
To Old Man Brown you felt as though
You had a real friend at your back
Although your skies were mighty black.

I don't know how to say it quite,
But talking doesn't set things right
Or make care lighter than it was
The way that earnest listening does.
When you're so filled with grief and woe
Your mind just has to overflow.
It's then you want to sit right down
With some true friend, like Old Man Brown,
Who knows the good that he can do
By simply listening to you.

For gas—not for girls.
Harvards "plan."
Finance and revolution.
Bidding for men.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1923)

The supreme court says a minimum wage law for women is unconstitutional. Congress tried to guarantee women and girls working in the District of Columbia enough money to live on. But the great court says "no."

The same supreme court that calls a woman's minimum wage law unconstitutional recently announced that big profits for a gas company are highly constitutional. The people of New York were forbidden to regulate the price of gas because that might keep the gas company from making reasonable dividends.

All that is confusing to those that combine deep respect for the supreme court with a vague idea that it is just as important to pay a girl enough to live on as it is to pay a gas stock owner enough dividends to pay for travel in Europe.

Harvard has perfected a plan for "more effectively sifting candidates for admission to Harvard College." Translated, that university euphemism means a plan to keep Jews out of Harvard—not creditable to an ancient institution supposed to encourage learning, not race or religious hatred.

The cure for such "sifting" is to deprive Harvard real estate and buildings of exemption from taxation. That exemption is made up by heavier taxes on other property, of which much is owned by Jews. If their sons can't go to Harvard, their real estate shouldn't pay to maintain that institution tax free.

President Butler of Columbia University, New York, is asked by Italian-American citizens to discipline his professor of Latin, Dino Bigongaria, for his affiliation with the Fascisti.

Dr. Butler says he has no right to interfere with beliefs or thoughts of the professors. That ought to be true, whether it is or not. A mind not free makes a poor teacher.

On the other hand apart from Dr. Butler, many of our prosperous citizens, including the most prosperous, are great admirers of Mussolini. He squelched radicalism, fed castor oil by the pint to obstreperous Socialists; set himself up beside the king and rules Italy.

All very fine and efficient. No wonder big finance admires it. But big finance should remember that, after all, Mussolinis coup was a revolution.

It was the first middle class revolution, rebelling against the dreaded tyranny of Socialism and Communism at the bottom of the pile. And it was a wonderfully successful revolution.

But those that have a great deal and don't want to lose it will hesitate, if wise, to approve any revolution. The Mussolini government in Italy, largely admired here by plutocratic efficiency, will not last. It will be followed by another very disagreeable kind of revolution.

The prosperous should stick closely to the law and its methods, not favoring revolution of any kind, lest they get the wrong kind.

In that direction lies wisdom.

There is some good in evil rarely enough to make up for the evil. Our immigration laws, keeping out workers needed by this country's industries, and farms especially, represent serious evil.

Now great industries begin bidding against each other for manpower, and that represents good. It means giving men that work more for what they produce.

The Carnegie Steel Company, Youngstown, Ohio, branch of the Big Steel Company, announces an 11 per cent wage increase. It is bidding for men in other industries. The other institutions in turn will bid. Wages will go up, and there may result a sort of war-time "prosperity."

But what the country needs is full natural development, plenty of men for industries, farms, for unused regions, and in addition fair pay, apart from "bidding."

The Interstate Commerce Commission will "investigate" the surcharge on Pullman fares. It is time for an investigation of that war-tax hangover.

Last year the Pullman company collected thirty-four million extra charge to the railroads.

The extortionate surcharge of 50 per cent, tacked on to the Pullman ticket as a war measure, has discouraged travel and has been most injurious to businesses that send out traveling men.

A PUZZLE A DAY

A carpenter had a square board as shown in fig. A. With three straight cuts he sawed it into four pieces that formed fig. B. How did he do it?

Yesterday's answer:

The sentence:

"He bought a banana and put it on ice" contains the name of Nice, a French city, and Bath, an English city, the latter being reversed, thus: "He boughT A Banana and put it oN ICE."

The Old Time Religion

Richard McCarty in Albany News.

This old world is hungry for the gumbo of salvation—yes, salvation by the Grace of God, that's the only kind that satisfies a hungry soul, turns it up side down, turns the wrong side out, and gives a fellow a feeling of forgiveness, and he wants to go out and hug and kiss the world, especially his enemies. Did you ever see a sure enough conversion? If not, your faith in salvation by Grace is of the weaker sort. We were raised over in the mountains of East Tennessee, among the feudists, and strife and hatred was prevalent in that hill country, and every family was member of a clan. It was just after the Civil war, the soldiers of the Confederacy had come home, what was left of them, many of them with maimed bodies and empty sleeves and pantaloon legs. In that immediate country, people were pretty well divided in the matter of the Union Army and the Southern Confederacy. Many of the Union sympathizers had stayed at home and depredated upon us Southern Confederacy folks, whose daddies and sons and brothers and sweethearts and husbands had gone out and fought for an undying principle and lost. It was an unsettled period in our history, and at most any gathering, dance or religious, it was nothing uncommon to see a dozen fights, and dead men, and we are going through the same experience again, it always happens after a war. I think it was in the summer of 1867, over at Good Hope, in the county of Meigs, there was a big revival in progress, and as a prelude to the manifestation of God's spirit on this occasion, the Sunday before they had staged a battle among the feudists down at the spring about 200 yards from the camp ground, one or two men were killed, and several wounded. This was one of those old Hardshell camp meetings, and most of the feudists were hardshells. Of course the world has gone off and left this wing of the Baptists, but permit us to say, that they did not take all the salvation in the world belonging to this people, as they have the kind that makes a man honest, square with his fellowman, a good citizen, love their wives and children and home, and when their country calls, they go out on the firing line and die for it, and do not wear their religion or patriotism on their sleeves. And it's characteristic of them, they do not believe in foreign missions, and one could see the horns of this doctrine sticking up in the league of nations. It was on Sunday night after the pitched battle down at the spring, and a Confederate soldier was preaching, don't recall his name, but remember very distinctly that he carried an empty sleeve, and on this particular night, the spirit of God got hold of him while preaching from the text: Shall these bones live again; and it was catching and pervaded the entire congregation, and as a consequence of it, big strong men fell down in the straw at the mourners bench, where prayer was wont to be made. And the climax of the occasion was when Tom Powell, the ring leader of one of the mountain clans, was converted, and they could hear him shouting a mile away, and the very first man that he wanted to see was Log Wright, leader of the opposing clan, and the Powell and Wright families had been at war for four generations, shooting and killing and hating each other, but the Spirit of God got hold of the big rough mountaineers and settled a lifetime feud. Yes, Tom went out and hunted Log up, shook hands with him and they made up, then Tom brought him into the altar with his arms around him, and as a result of this, Log fell down in the straw, and he too was converted, and that was the match that sure enough touched the revival off, and everything was at a fever heat, and it spread like wild fire, and the Spirit of God got hold of strong men, struck them down, and for hours they would lay unconscious in a trance like, yes it was indeed a pentecostal shower, and strange things happened, life time enemies embraced each other, still houses were destroyed and the bungs knocked out of whisky barrels and the booze pured out. This news went out of the conversion of these feudists and this revival spread over two or three counties, and the hillbillys came flocking in, and it was a great manifestation of the spirit of God. Of course, there are lots of folks who do not believe in a miraculous conversion, this is the age of formalism among all the churches, they have lost faith in Salvation by Grace, the church is a machine, and it takes gold dollars to oil the cogs and make it run—It's mostly statutory. What the world needs today is another Whitfield, a John Wesley and a Spurgeon to prick the conscience of men. In other words, we need an old time revival, we need that kind of religion that takes the taste for liquor out of a man's mouth, takes the sin out of his life, makes him face right about, wants to go out and embrace his enemies, pay what he owes, and a religion that fails to do that is a fake—Yes, we want some more of that old time religion. We have lots of churches today, a large membership, and we pour our millions into its coffers, but we have mighty little of that old time religion. It may be that Jesus Christ never lived, it may be that He was not divine, and after all it may be a symbol, and it's common talk now on the streets and preached from pulpits away high up. But take that old time religion over there in the hills of Tennessee among those feudists, families who had been fighting and killing each other for nearly a century, settled their difficulties, made up and embraced each other, became neighbors, quit their meanness, went into the churches and made good citizens, and their whole mode of life was changed. Mr. Infidel, have you got anything like that in your system of philosophy? Old time religion is our subject—The spirit of God needs to get hold of men, the kind that changes a man's life. It's the remedy for the hour and the occasion.

SUICIDES.

Discouraged, 12,500 Americans committed suicide last year, according to Dr. Warren, who keeps tab on for the Seven-Late League. Enough to make a good-sized town.

Among these suicides were 79 millionaires. Money isn't everything. Not by a long shot.

Nine hundred children also killed themselves, compared with only 477 in 1919. Boys seem most in danger of taking their own lives at the age of 16, girls at 15. Puppy love, usually.

The strangest suicide was the oldest—a great-great-grandmother, 106. The youngest, a child of 5.

Suicide usually comes in a fit of temporary insanity. When morbidness seeks company. Self often is the most dangerous companion.

THE GREAT ELUSION

BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Arrgt. NEA Service, Inc

It was toward the close of a dinner party at Kindersley Court, in Devonshire, where Janet and I were spending a fortnight, that our host suddenly directed the conversatin to me.

"One has heard a great deal of your success, Greyes, especially during your last few years at Scotland yard. What do you count your greatest failure?"

"My inability to bring to justice the greatest criminal in Europe," I replied after a moment's hesitation. "I had him on my book for three years, but when I retired, he was still very much at-large."

"What is his name?" Lord Kindersley asked with some interest.

I smiled.

"A name, with him, I suspect, is an affair of the moment. I have known him under a dozen different pseudonymes; but his real name is, I believe, Michael. He did me the honor to attend my wedding reception as Colonel Escombe."

I happened to meet the glance of Beatrice Kindersley as I looked across the table.

"But tell us about this man Michael?" Lord Kindersley intervened. "I remember, seven or eight years ago, hearing something about the duel between you fellows at Scotland Yard and a wonderfully led criminal gang. Where is the fellow now?"

I shook my head.

"I shouldn't have the faintest idea where to look for him. If he comes into the limelight again, my friend Rimmington at Scotland Yard will certainly send for me."

"And you would join in the hunt?" our host persisted.

"You would do nothing of the sort," Janet intervened, looking across at me. "That is a promise."

I smiled back at her reassuringly. Prosperity and peace of mind had agreed with Janet. The dignity of wifehood sat well upon her. Her complexion seemed to have grown more creamy, her beautiful eyes softer, her carriage, always graceful, more assured. There was no woman in the county more admired than she—certainly no one less spoiled. I sometimes think that if she had bad her way, she would never have wandered at all outside our little domain.

"There is just the one possibility," I remarked, "that I might not be able to evade the challenge. If I do not go after Michael, he may come after me."

It was precisely at this moment that the amazing event happened. We were a party of 12 at dinner, seated at a round table in the center of the large banqueting hall of Kindersley Court. The room was rather dimly lighted, except for the heavily shaded table lamps. The two footmen had left the room, presumably to fetch the coffee, and the butler standing behind Lord Kindersley's chair was the only servant in attendance. Suddenly every light in the place went out, and we were plunged into the most complete darkness.

"Never knew such a thing to happen before," our host declared in an annoyed tone. "Somebody must have been tinkering with the powerhouse. Fetch some candles, Searle."

The butler turned to grope his way to card the door, but he was not allowed to reach it. From various parts of the shadowy spaces on every side of us little pin-pots of fire blazed out and steadily approached, without sound or movement. Five of them came to a standstill immediately behind Lord Kindersley's chair. Wielded by some nameless hand, the dazzling brilliancy of a highpowered electric torch was flashed round upon twelve amazed faces. Then a strong voice broke the spellbound silence, a voice still cold and modulated.

"Ladies and gentlemen," the intruder said, "there is no need for any particular alarm. This is, to use a slang phrase, a 'holdup.' We have automatic pistols, and I trust that you will realize the absurdity of resistance."

"God bless my soul!" Lord Kindersley exclaimed. "Where are all my servants? How the devil did you get in?"

"It is scarcely policy to let you into the secret of our methods," the same cold voice continued; "but I have no objection to telling you that we came in through the front door, that your servants are locked up and guarded in the servants' hall very much as you are, that your telephone wires are cut, your electric light supply is in our hands, and the lodge-gates guarded. You ladies will kindly place all the jewelry you are wearing, upon the table in front of you. There must be no delay, please, or any attempt at concealment."

"God bless my soul!" Lord Kindersley exclaimed. "How the devil did you get in?"

"What shall I do?" the woman next to me whispered hoarsely. "I am wearing my emeralds—Jack implored me not to—they are worth 20,000 pounds."

"You will have to do as the others are doing," I told her. "The first act of this little drama must be played out according to orders."

She unclasped the necklace with trembling fingers, and the unseen figure behind Lord Kondersley's chair spoke again.

"Will it be Sir Norman Greyes who struts across the stage in the second act?" he asked mockingly.

Then I knew who was there, and I remembered that Michael had sworn to take my life when and how the opportunity offered. I was an easy mark for him, sitting there, but somehow the idea of assassination never had any terrors for me.

"I may occupy the stage for a little time," I answered, feeling for my wine through the darkness, "but after all, it will be the third act that counts. Which will you choose, I wonder, Michael, the gallows at Wandsworth Gaol or the electric chair at Sing Sing?"

This, of course, was sheer bravado, a touch of melodrama of which I repented as soon as I had indulged in it. I heard the click of a weapon, and in the steady flare of that small circle of fire I saw the flesh upon his hand as it drew level with my head. There was a silence as poignant as it was hideously theatrical, then a cry from deep rang through the room.

"A fearless spirit, I fancy," Michael said coldly as he lowered his weapon. "You do well to intercede, dear lady. Some day we other, I think that your amazed will kill me or I him, but unless he fights me with a posse of policemen, it will be when we are both armed and the odds are even."

"May I speak, please?" Beatrice Kindersley asked.

"I have put my rings and bracelets upon he table. I am wearing around my neck a miniature set with brilliants. It is not really very valuable, for it was but lent to a relative. May I keep it?"

"Pray keep your miniature," the voice conceded. "Do me the further honor, if you will, of replacing your jewelery upon your fingers and wrists. We are not here to rob children of their baubles."

Beatrice's laugh was a most amazing thing. It was perfectly natural and full of amused enjoyment.

"I don't like the reflection upon my jewelry," she complained. "However, since you are so generous, I will accept your offer."

"Look here," Lord Kindersley broke out, finding a certain courage from his niece's complete composure, "is this a practical joke."

"You will discover if it is a practical joke or not, if you attempt to leave your seat!" was the instant reply.

"These fellows can't think they're going to get away with a thing like this," muttered Lord Harroden, the lord lieutenant of the county, from the other end of the table.

"Your lordship is mistaken," was the confident reply from the unseen figure who was directing the proceedings. "I will lay you five to one in hundreds that we do, payment to be made through the personal column of the Times in thirty days' time."

"Gad, he's a cool hand!" chuckled Anstruther, the master of hounds, who was seated next but one to me. "I wish I could see his face for a moment."

"It would be your last if you did," he was promptly told.

"What if I strike a match?" a young man who was seated next to Kindersley inquired.

"I should put it out with a bullet and you with the next," Michael assured him grimly. "Now, ladies and gentlemen," he went on, after a brief pause, "our business seems to be over. Anyone who leaves his seat before we reach the door, will be shot. As soon as we get there, we shall lock you in and then you can commence your part of the fun as soon as you like."

No one attempted a single word of reply. The little points of fire were kept turned upon us while our visitors slowly retreated. We heard the door unlocked, heard it slammed, heard it locked again—the signal for our emancipation. Very nearly simultaneously we all started to our feet.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK

By LEE PAPE

Our cook Nora rang the dinnir bell for supplr yestidday and me and pop went in the dining room ferst, pop saying, Pull a chair up to the table for your mother, Benny, dont you know enything about gallantry and politenss?

Yes sir, I sed. And I put a chair in frunt of ma's place, saying, Pop, this reminds me of the Kut Up Komedy picture at the Little Grand yestidday, Squidge Jones and Luella Dippers was both in it, and Squidge Jones pertended to give Luella Dippers a chair to sit down on and then he quick pulled it away agen and she fell down so hard she terned 3 back sumblesaults.

I trust you dident laff at that, pop sed.

Everybody did, I sed. Meening me too, and pop sed, Wats the use of trying to teetch the young generation gallantry and politenss and then having them see sites like that. Was there anything elts instructive in the picktire? he sed.

Yes sir, one part was funny as enything ware Squidge Jones asks Luella Dippers to marry him and she says she wont and he takes his ice cream off of his plate and hits her rite in the face with it and it melts all over her face and runs down to of saw her, pop.

I suppose it did, pop sed. And now a, the first opportunity I suppose you'll be throwing your ice cream in some fair one's face, he sed.

No sir, I wouldn't do that, I sed, and pop sed, Well, I'm very glad to hear it, and I sed Yes sir, I wouldn't want my ice cream like that for enny girl I don't care who she was.

Yes gods, wats the use, pop sed. Put your mother's chair back agenst the wall and let her get it herself, he sed.

With jest then ma came in so I left it there.

WAGONER GROCERY STORE IS ROBBED ON MONDAY NIGHT

Thieves entered the Wagoner Grocery around midnight Monday and made a successful get-away with the cash register and a small amount of money. The proprietor said the amount of money in the register was not over $5.00. The robbery was reported to the police department but no arrests have been made as yet.

With this one exception things were quiet for the new city police force Monday night following their induction into office. The police blotter was without decoration Tuesday morning.

Margaret Anglin Delights Palace Audience Monday

Margaret Anglin, playing the leading role in "The Woman of Bronze" fully came up to the expectations of the audience which witnessed the play at the Palace Theater Monday night.

A great many pronounced the play the best that has ever been produced here, and the whole audience was evidently delighted, from the many curtain calls to which the several favorites had to respond. Following the emotional climax to the second act, Miss Anglin responded twelve or thirteen times, and several other scenes were as well received. The star is older than when many Wichitans remember her in plays elsewhere, but she has lost none of her wonderful dramatic ability. She had splendid support Monday night, too. Harry Minturn, playing the role of Leonard Hunt opposite Miss Anglin, came in for a big share of the audience's appreciation of real artistic ability, taking a number of curtain calls on his own account.

Others whose work was outstanding in the support were Max Montesole as Patrick Griggs and Virginia Howell as Mary Courtney. However, the whole supporting cast was first class, and worthy of the star. Janet Cameron in the unpopular role of Sylvia Morton, Papa Bonelli, and Henry Nowbray as Graham were especially good, such artists as Margaret Anglin, who has few peers in the dramatic world, here in Wichita Falls, and Monday night's audience was evidently appreciative of the fact.

Disclose Plans for Implanting Revolutionary Doctrines Within Departments of U. S. Government

WASHINGTON, April 10.—A plan for implanting revolutionary doctrines within the government departments here was declared today by the police to have been disclosed in papers seized in raids last night during which seven men were arrested.

A letter which the authorities said was addressed to Edward Irvine, one of the men held, signed by William W. Menistone and despatched on March 22 from the Workers Party of America in New York, told of the hopes held for converting government workers to revolution.

"Will write you within several days," the letter said, "on the importance of Washington in the revolutionary struggle. I should say that any territory which contains 400,000 people, which is the population of Washington, and containing many tens of thousands of government workers, whose lot becomes annually, if not monthly, more difficult, is fruitful soil for our propaganda."

Other letters seized, the authorities said, contained plans for an immense May day demonstration. Pencilled memoranda apparently prepared for the purpose of speech making contained high praise for Lenine and Tretzky, but criticized them for being too mild and lacking the vision to go far enough.

In addition to Irvine the police held Louis Brown, Isadore Jackson, Ludwig Engelhart, a native of Germany; Clarence Rosenberger, William Carl Smelzer and Lisa Hendleman, a 19-year-old student.

SEVEN RADICALS ARE ARRESTED AT CAPITOL

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Seven persons were being held by the police today for investigation following a roundup of alleged radicals in two raids here last night in which department of justice agents participated. A quantity of radical literature seized was being examined by the government agents.

In the first raid 10 person were taken to police headquarters out of more than a score who had gathered at the typographical temple to attend a meeting in behalf of William Z. Foster, labor leader, under auspices of the labor defense council. They were apparently unaware that the meeting, the police were informed, had been called off by officers of the Typographical Union when they learned of its nature.

The five held on an investigation charge out of this group included a man who gave his name as Edward J. Irvine, secretary of the District of Columbia Workers Party of America.

Six men were taken in a later raid on a bookstore in the downtown section, alleged by the police to be the headquarters of a radical group here. The store, the police said, specialized in current radical literature, of which they described the assortment found as one of the most complete on record. Two men were held out of this group.

FORT WORTH OIL OPERATOR INJURED; HAS "NIGHTMARE"

GREENVILLE, TEXAS, April 10. W. D. Anderson, 24, Fort Worth oil operator, was treated here today for a severed artery in his right wrist; caused, he said, by a "nightmare." He was asleep on a Cotton Belt passenger train when the engineer sounded the whistle at Commerce, Texas. The blast of the whistle coupled with jerks of the car awakened Anderson, he said, and believing the train wrecked, he suddenly broke out the glass windows of his berth with his hands. Anderson proceeded to Fort Worth.

Home Entered Three Evenings In Succession

WACO, April 10.—Burglars entered the home of Sidney Davis in the fashionable residence district of Waco, three nights in succession. On their first visit, last Friday night, they obtained valuables to the amount of $1,000. On the two succeeding nights, nothing of value was obtained. On the last visit the burglars made a hasty exit when they heard a noise on the upper floor.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL AT ELECTRA IS INJURED; RUN OVER BY HORSE

ELECTRA, April 10.—Although unconscious for several hours after being run over by a horse, Miss Willie Walraven is again able to go to school. She was in the business section of town when several mules and a few horses belonging to some teamster crossed the street. The girl kept out of way of the mules and did not see the horse which ran over her. She is a student in the local high school.

Electra's ordinance forbidding loose stock on the streets has been violated many times recently, for which offense no arrests have yet been made.

"I am much impressed with the program and growth of the Kiwanis Club in Wichita Falls; it is in keeping with the spirit of your city. I am expecting great thing from the Wichita Kiwanians," Mr. Fry said. He complimented the club on its part in fostering the municipal golf course and added that no more constructive work toward the promotion of wholesome recreation could have been done.

Salvi Received With Delight by Matinee Crowd

Salvi the great harpist, delighted a fair crowd at the Palace theater Monday afternoon with one of the most attractive musical programs ever heard here.

The harpist proved an artist in the finest meaning of the term, and the audience which responded to his beautiful numbers was one of the most enthusiastic that has ever gathered in the theater. The musician was applauded again and again, and was especially gracious with encores. It was worthy of note that the children who filled the balcony (there was a special rate for them) and who are usually rather noisy during any kind of an entainment, were especially well behaved, and unusually appreciative.

Salvi was presented here by the Musicians' Club, adding another splendid success to their muscal treats.

STUYVESANT FISH FORMER HEAD I. C. RAILWAY IS DEAD

NEW YORK, April 10.—Stuyvesant Fish, banker and former president of the Illinois Central railroad, died suddenly today.

TEXAS CAFE FIRE DOES DAMAGE TO AMOUNT OF $500

Fire in the Texas Cafe late Monday night caused a loss estimated at about $500, according to the estimate made by the department Tuesday morning. The fire started above the refrigerator in the kitchen and the prompt response of the department confined the flames to the rear of the building. A short delay would probably have resulted in a disastrous blaze on account of the small frame building below the cafe on Indiana. Water and fire loss will not exceed $500, it is reported; the property was covered by insurance. The building is the property of Miles O'Reilly.

FEED AND FUEL COMPANY SUSTAINS FIRE DAMAGE

Fire in the plant of the Wichita Feed and Fuel Company late Monday afternoon partially destroyed the coal bins and mule barn and severely burned two mules that were tied in the stable when the fire broke out. The blaze was well under way when the alarm was given and the entire plant of the company was in danger for a short time until the department got the blaze under control. Damage to the property will not exceed $1,000, according to reports Tuesday morning; the property was covered by insurance. The fire is believed by company officials to have been caused by small boys who were seen smoking in the stable early in the afternoon.

SISLER MAY NEVER AGAIN BE SEEN IN BIG LEAGOE LINEUP

NEW ORLEANS, April 10.—George Sisler, St. Louis American first baseman and regarded as the most valuable player in organized baseball, probably will not be in Browns' lineup this year and may never play ball again, according to a story appearing today in the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

The newspaper declares a severe attack of influenza left Sisler's eyes seriously affected and that hope gradually is waning that he will ever play another game. Sisler, according to the story, is said to be afflicted with double vision as a result of the illness, and after attempting to play this spring rested in the hope that the trouble was only temporary. After a reasonable time, however, he found the affliction severe and now is under treatment to keep his eyesight from being affected.

Lee Fohl, manager of the club, declined to discuss reports that his first sacker was out of the game for good, but said he did not expect him to start the season and did not know when he would be able to report. The Browns left here Monday night for Memphis.

WESTERN UNION REPRESENTATIVES IN SESSION HERE

DR. SIMPSON IS SPEAKER TUESDAY AT CLUB LUNCHEON

"What is the Greatest Good?" was the question put to the University club at their weekly luncheon Tuesday by Rev. C. M. Simpson, who answered it in terms of Christian civilization. Dr. Simpson gave a brief and interesting history of oriental religions and the manner in which the Shintoist, Buddist, Mohammedan and the followers of Confucious would answer the question. "To the Shintoist the greatest good can come only from Ancester worship; to the Mohammedan a garden of licentiousness is the greatest good; to reach 'Oblivian' and to eliminate human desire is the chief end of the Buddist," Dr. Simpson said.

"Christian civilization offers the only true answer to the question and followers of the teaching of the Man of Gallilee have the one true conception of the greatest good in life," the speaker added.

R. D. Ford entertained the club with a vocal solo, "Acuslak," and responded to the hearty applause of the club with an Irish folk song, "Dear Little Girl." Alfred W. Roper, who is assisting in the music for the meeting at the First Christian church, gave a program of piano numbers of his own composition, "Swinging," and "On the Lake" from "The Festive Picnic."

PRISONERS' ROAD CAMP MATTER WAS ONLY DISCOSSED

The matter of a road camp for county prisoners held in jail upon conviction of misdemenor charges was merely discussed by the county commissioners in session Monday afternoon.

The importance of the establishment of such an institution is realized by all the commissioners but the matter was left open until next week at which time the various comaissioners will attempt to devise a scheme whereby this matter can be attended to.

Since the discovery of the statute which permits a prisoner a rate of $3 a day for each day he remains in jail without being given the opportunity to work on the roads a number of prisoners have been released upon filing an application for a writ of habeas corpus.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT STAND

Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

Glens Falls, N. Y.—"For over two months I was so sick I was not able to stand on my feet, and my husband did my housework. The doctor said an operation might be necessary. I read testimonial letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began to take it. Before I had finished taking the first bottle I saw what good it was doing me. I am now well and strong, doing all my work for a family of four, all my washing and my sewing, which I think is remarkable, as I had not dared to run my sewing machine, but had done all my sewing by hand. I truly feel that were it not for your medicine I would not be here today as my case seemed very serious."—Mrs. GEORGE W. BURCHELL, Glens Falls, N. Y.

SERGEANT ROONEY VETERAN OF THREE WARS IS IN CITY

"Smilin' Pat Rooney" with credentials and citations of a veteran of three wars arrived in this city Monday night on his trip home to the Pacific slope. Sergeant Major Rooney, to give him his real name and title, will probably remain in the city until Thursday when he has been requested to address the Pat Carrigan post of the American Legion.

Sergeant Rooney has spent his entire life in military service in the British navy, the Australian and American armies. He was elted with Croix de Guerre of the first class, for bravery in the Suez when he was severely wounded in 1915.

The veteran military man is a member of the American Legion, the Disabled Veterans and La Societedes 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux and carries with him credentials from headquarters of all three organizations. He is making his way on his tramp to the west coast by selling pencils.

Dr. J. F. Reed, who is ill at his home, 2014 Tenth street, is doing very nicely, it was reported Tuesday morning.

SPUDDERS FAIL TO STOP CHICAGO CUBS' INVASION OF TEXAS

Killefer's Men Compile Hefty Lead In First Round That Salmites Are Unable to Overcome; Score 9 to 3

Chicago's National League hopes have come to Spudderville and gone again, and still the Cubs' march through Texas is uninterrupted. The Bruins found the Spudders as easy as the other Texas League clubs they have met in their tour through the state and chalked up a 9 to 3 victory.

Most of the damage done by the big leaguers came in the opening round, when Steve Mokan was pounded for five runs. Bill Fincher took the five innings from the second through the sixth and gave up but one run and four hits. Pat Flaherty finished it and was touched for a marker in each of the three innings he worked.

While the Cubs were accumulating those nine runs, tall Nick Dumovich from Los Angeles, brother of the Dumovich whom the Cubs are leaving with the Spudders, held the Salms well in hand for seven innings, giving up but two runs. George Steuland toiled the final two and gave the homelings another marker.

Former Spudders Honored

Shorty Adams, Art Weiss and Victor Keene, three athletes who helped to make a race of it in the Texas League last season, were done the honors of the day, when each of the trio was presented with a gold watch. Rev. N. F. Grafton, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, made the presentation on behalf of the management of the club. The players assembled at the plate immediately before the start of the game and it was all over in a few minutes.

Tuesday's program for the Spudders is a pair of practice sessions in the morning and afternoon. Tuesday and Wednesday will be idle days, as far as exhibition games are concerned, but Thursday finds the St. Paul American Association champs here for a five-game series. This set will carry the Spudders to within one day of the opening of the season.

Mokan Hit Hard

Mokan was in a bad way in the first inning when he passed the first two hitters. Grantham followed with a single over second that scored Statz. Grimes' single that bounced off Umpire O'Hearn's foot filled the bases and Friberg's bingle sent in two more. Miller forced Grimes and Heathcote forced Miller, Friberg going to third. Friberg and Miller successfully negotiated a double steal when Berger dropped Bischoff's short throw. Hartnett's liner to left brought in the fifth counter of the inning.

The Spuds got their first run in the second. Ace Elliott, who got himself a pair of solid whacks in the day's festivities, opened with a single through short, but was forced by Berger. O'Hearn failed to get from in front of White's drive and it caromed into left for two bases, Berger taking third. Bischoff's fly to center counted Berger. The Spudders remained unusually quiet until the sixth, when Nicolai Dumovich was wild for a few moments. He passed Silva and Tanner with one out and Whiteman's one base drive to left sent Silva in. Steuland gave up one in the eighth, his first inning. Tanner drew his third pass of the day and advanced on Whiteman's out. Elliott brought Buddy home with a safe one between first and second.

Fincher pulled through all of his five innings in nice style, allowing a run in the second, and that was all. Flaherty was not so successful in the final three innings, giving up a run in each.

MYATT WILL DIVIDE INDIANS' CACHING WITH STEVE O'NEIL

LAKELAND, FLA., April 10.—Manager Speaker and every other member of the Cleveland club are enthusiastic over the work of Glenn Myatt. The players feel that an injury to Steve O'Neill will not work so serious a handicap as in the past.

Myatt, formerly a member of the Philadelphia Americans, has been a couple of years late in arriving because he was unfortunate enough to make his major league debut on a club that boasted a star catcher.

As a result, Myatt graced the bench for more than a year, and was turned over to Milwaukee in a deal for Hauser, without Mack realizing what a great possibility he had on the bench.

Myatt came fast the moment he was given a chance to work regularly and gives promise of soon being regarded as a second Ray Schalk.

The recruit bats left-handed and hits them hard. He is a wonderful thrower and delights in pegging the ball around. He is very fast as catchers go. From Milwaukee comes the word that he uses great judgment in handling his pitchers.

"Myatt looks so good to me I intend to have him divide the work with O'Neill," says Speaker.

DETROIT CASTOFFS ARE SUCCESSFUL WITH REDS

Jim Roberts, a big, husky pitcher, who is trying for a berth on the Cincinnati staff, has a fine chance to come through if precedent means anything.

The precedent is that Jim Roberts for a couple of months was a member of the Detroit team and was sent back to the minors without any strings on him.

Detroit castoffs have been unusually successful with the Cincinnati club.

Babe Pinelli, who failed to impress Detroit as a third sacker, and was sent back to the coast, got his third big league trial with the Reds, and now is rated one of the best players in the National League at that position.

Johnny Couch, who had a big year in 1922, and who by his great work kept the Reds in the race during the early part of the season, had his first big league opportunity with Detroit and was sent back.

George Harper, who, the Reds say, is one of the best hitters in the National League, was carried for a couple of seasons by Jennings when he was in charge of Detroit, but finally turned loose as lacking big league class.

Cobb, when he played in the Winter Coast League, was favorably impressed by Caveney, who starred at short for the Reds last year. He offered a fancy price for him but finally decided Cavaney wasn't worth the money asked and quit bidding in favor of the Reds.

Ball players, always superstitious, are inclined to feel that Roberts' failure to make good at Detroit means that he will surely deliver for Cincinnati.

The Outlook

By AL PARKER

Those Cubs of Chicago are finding Texas League opposition pretty soft. Sherman's little sally through Georgia has nothing on Killefer's stroll through Texas. First it was San Antonio, then Houston, Fort Worth and our own Spudderstown. The Bears were easy, the Buffs were easy and all the rest were ditto. The Spudders held 'em down about as well as the rest.

If William Killefer goes through the National League with the ease in which he has bumped off Texas' prides, the race in the older circuit will be about as interesting as another argument between Jack the Demp and Georges the Carp. None of Texas' hurlers have been able to stop the Cubs' wallop. That is no knock to Texas talent. There's lots of wallop in the war clubs of Miller, Grimes, Statz and the rest.

Umpire O'Hearn has had about as much luck as any of the rest in stopping the Cub drive. He hooked a right dog in front of Ray Grimes' smash in the first inning.

The Swedish arbiter didn't show any partiality, though. He stopped one for Al White later in the game. The ball caromed into left field for two bases. Without O'Hearn's assistance it would have been a single.

It not only was a hard day for the umps. Several of our hopefuls had a bum afternoon. Patrick O'Flaherty of the Babe Ruth countenance, was nicked between the shoulder blades by George Steuland. To say nothing of the ground balls that found a waiting chest or shin. This baseball's a rough game, alright, alright.

Not much progress made by this Outlook in making the rounds and finding out who's who and how come in Wichita's sport realms. Still have hopes though and Tuesday is another day. First day's always a tough one. Clearing up the old desk to make ready for real labor is no mean task in itself, and what, with finding out on which day the proverbial ghost struts, learning the exact location of the water cooler and all those other major details, there is not a lot of time left.

Saw the Spuds lose another ball game in the afternoon. Don't care whether this Outlook sees those Spuds win another game or not before April 18—if they'll just make up for it then. Always like to see the home nine on the big end, but one after April 18 is worth more than all those before that time.

Renewed acquaintance with George Whiteman, the erstwhile skipper of Houston's Buffaloes. George appears on the field just like the George of old. A corking good ball player, both in the field and at bat.

Wish to see Bill Fincher work fulfilled. Didn't expect him to do such a fine job of it, however. Bill stopped the Cubs with one run and four hits in five innings. Lay to it, Bill.

Skipper Salm must be a demon for labor. Two practices ordered for Tuesday. One at 9:30 and the other at 2 o'clock. If work will do 'em good, let 'em have it. Anything to help the cause along.

BURKBURNETT CHRISTIAN CHURCH HAVING REVIVAL

BURKBURNETT, April 10.—Miss Mattie Wofford and Rev. F. W. Strong of Fort Worth are conducting a revival meeting at the Central Christian Church. Miss Wofford is conducting the singing and Rev. Strong the preaching assisted by the pastor, Rev. John D. White.

Cubb Boss Pins Faith In Youngsters

Shorty Adams to Start at Shortshop

Leading the youngest club in either major league, and probably one of the youngest for all time, Manager Bill Killefer of the Chicago Cubs is hopeful of a season better than last, when he brought the Cubs up in fifth place, several positions higher than most critics had predicted his team would finish. But that is about as far as the Chicago pilot will go. He is playing it safe and declines to make any prediction as to where he will end the season.

Of especial interest to Wichita Falls fans is Killefer's comment on Shorty Adams, Spudder shortstop of last season. Charlie Hollocher is ill with the flu and Killefer expects him to be away from the club a couple of weeks after the season opens. Adams is going to start the season in Hollocher's place and Killefer says he believes that Shorty will make good right off the bat. It is a tough job that has been assigned the half-pint shortstop, this filling in for Charlie Hollocher. After watching Hollocher perform for some long, the Cub fans are going to have to travel at a fast pace to make good. After Hollocher is able to return to the game, Adams more than likely will be used for utility duty. At any rate, he won't be turned loose to any other club in any league, according to the Cub skipper, who was here with his club Monday to entertain the Spudders.

Counts On Youngsters

Killefer places his hopes on his youthful infield coming through. With Grimes on first and Hollocher at short to steady the two youngsters at the other infield positions, Killefer had little fear of his inner-works not being up to standard. With Hollocher out of it and another youngster in his place, Killefer is not so certain. "I believe we will get better pitching than last season," Killefer declares, "and everything depends on the young infield coming through. I am going to start the season with Grantham on second and Friberg on third. Adams will be in there at short until Hollocher is able to get back in the game, which I expect to be at least two weeks after the season is under way. Grimes will be the only veteran on the infield.

Sweet on Steuland

"The Cub pitching looks to be better than last year. George Steuland looks great and I expect him to be a much improved pitcher. Then there are Nick Dumovich, the tall southpaw from the Pacific coast, and Fussell, another southpaw, both of whom I expect to retain throughout the season. Alexander, Osborne, Aldridge and Cheeves are expected to win their share and there are several others, including Vic Keene and Tony Kaufman, who may turn in a lot of wins for the Cubs.

"The catching will be there with O'Farrell, Hartnett and Wirts all retained."

Killefer is satisfied with his outfield as it stands, with Hack Miller, Arnold Statz, Heathcote, Callaghan, Weiss and Fitzgerald. Killefer says that he already has decided to carry Weiss this season.

The Cubs' average is somewhere between 23 and 24 years, probably the youngest club of all time.

Damon RUNYON Says—

Latest Ring Slang.
Cline Smartest Pug.
Humor in Writing.
Money in Fight Game.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The Argot of the prize ring is peculiar.

"Palooka" is a new word, much used lately to describe what was formerly called a "hit-out," a "set-up," a "sucker," a "bohunk," a "push over."

All of these words mean a very poor fighter.

The origin of "palooka" is unknown, the derivation not clear. Like many slang words it has no apparent sense.

Jerry Lavadis, called "Jerry the Greek," old-time wrestler, who is now a trainer of boxers, tells the writer that the smartest ringman he ever knew was Irish Patsy Cline.

Cline was a lightweight, at his best a few short years ago. He fought all the good men in his class, including Benny Leonard.

Cline had a little note book," says "Jerry the Greek." After a fight he would make careful notes in the book of everything he had seen of his opponent, of his own mistakes. He would study these notes constantly.

"He had more boxing intelligence in the ring, with the knack of execution, beyond any boxer of my experience."

Sport writers of the olden days were not without humor.

"Deaf" Burke, the first of the English champion heavyweights to fight in America, once paid a visit to France.

A correspondent there, writing to his paper in London of the distinguished visitor, said:

"In a visit to the Jardin des Plantes Burke thought he recognized a younger brother, but on closer inspection he discovered it was only a chimpanzee."

Reading the life of Burke, which was the dubious occupation of this writer the other evening, we learned that the complaint about a champion holding his services at a high figure is at least ninety years old.

When Tommy Burns demanded and received $30,000 for permitting Jack Johnson to smack him around in Australia, citizens spoke querulously of the cost of prize fighting.

They thought the limit had been reached when Willard got $100,000 at Toledo. Then Jack Dempsey established a new mark with $300,000 for his brief appearance in Jersey City.

Quite recently William Muldoon, chairman of the New York boxing commission, ordered a cessation of efforts to present Dempsey and Harry Wills in a title bout because of the talk of big money.

Some how the impression that Dempsey has put a price of $500,000 on his next appearance has gotten around, though Dempsey denies it.

Jem Ward was champion of England ninety years ago. "Deaf" Burke was the leading challenger. Ward at first wanted to fight for three hundreds pounds a side, then raised it to five hundred pounds—about $2,500.

"It was then suggested," says our historian, "that the title of champion of England ought not to depend on the capricious of the person by whom it had been obtained, putting the sum at which he would risk its loss so high as to prevent the possibility of fair competition.

FOHL DECLINES TO DISCUSS SISLER'S VARIOUS TROUBLES

NEW ORLEANS, April 9.—Manager Lee Fohl, of the St. Louis American League club, declined here late today to discuss reports that George Sisler, the Browns' great first sacker, was out of the game for good because of eye trouble. Fohl said, however, that he did not expect Sisler to be in condition to begin the season and that he did not know how long it would be before he could report.

Sisler is now in St. Louis and it is said it may be necessary for him to undergo an operation in order to correct an impairment of his vision.

BURKBURNETT, April 10.—Hubert Hudgens, aged 28, died at his room on East Fourth street early Sunday morning after an illness of three days. The deceased was employed by the Corner Drug Store for the past six months and has no relations in this city.

The body was taken to Wichita Falls Sunday for interment.

HIPPO HODGES IS FOURTH BRUIN TO COME TO SPUDDERS

Four new Spudders were parading out at Athletic Park Tuesday morning when Skipper Walter Salm called together his charges for the morning conditioning spell. The latest to join the forces of the Spudders is Byrd Hodges, leading hurler last season of the Southwestern League, while toiling for Gabby Street's Joplin pennant winners. The best this southpaw could do was win 26 ball games and lose all of three. Hodges comes from the Cubs via outright sale. The deal was closed late Monday over long distance telephone shortly after the announcement of three other players being obtained from the Cubs on option.

The late additions to the Spudder roster mean that the Paris farm is calling to several who have been toiling out at Athletic Park. It is probable that several men will be shipped to Paris Tuesday night, but at noon Skipper Salm had not determined upon whose heads the axe will fall.

All four of the new men were left in Wichita when the Cubs departed Monday and all were out for work Tuesday, increasing the training forces by four. While all four of the new men may not be retained, Salm expects to receive valuable aid from at least a part of the quartet.

The newcomers all were hard at work in the practice sessions Tuesday and they will be given an opportunity to display their individual prowess in the five-game series coming up with the St. Paul American Association Club.

Jess Sweetser Given Permission By Yale to Sail With American Golf Team in British Invasion

By THOMAS CUMMISKEY
Universal Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The Yale faculty Monday night gave permission to Jess Sweetser, national amateur golf champion, to accompany the American team abroad to play in the British Amateur Championship and for the Walker cup.

The officials explained they admired the sportsmanship of the young contender and wish to aid him in participating in the events which from an American standpoint, would suffer if Sweetser were left behind. The faculty explained, however, that it will simply allow his absence from recitation during the remainder of the spring term, and that he will have to make up his studies on his return.

The team will sail April 17, so as to have time for practice for the amateur titular play at Deal on May 7 to 11, and the Walker cup engagement, May 16 and 17 at St. Andrews.

Sweetser is a senior at the Sheffield Scientific School. His trip will prevent him from receiving his diploma with his class. It is expected private tutoring will enable him to complete back class room and examination work.

Sweetser's presence will give the team a true championship tone, as "Chick" Evans and Bob Gardner of Chicago, S. Davidson Herron, of Pittsburgh, and Francis Ouimet of Boston, who will go along also, have all won our national crowns. Ouimet, for instance, won both the national open and amateur titles, and Gardner was twice amateur king.

After much work, the team list is now completed, and in addition to the five named, will be: Fred Wright of Los Angeles, George Rotan of Houston, Texas, Dr. O. O. Willing, of Portland, Ore., Max Marston of Philadelphia, Harry Johnson, of St. Paul, Oswald Kirby, of this city, and Reggie Lewis, of Greenwich, Conn., already on the high seas.

It is a quite imposing team as constituted, particularly as regards the "all-champion quintette."

News from Rome that Los Angeles has been awarded the Olympic games for 1932, the first date available, ends a strong campaign by this country's athletic authorities and those of California to get the classic. William May Garland, who presented the claim for the award today in Rome, is a hero in his home town, Los Angeles.

The trouble France has had or rather is having in getting money to hold the event in 1924 led Los Angeles to hope for the classics next year at one time. It is a long stretch from now until 1932 but it is fine news nevertheless. The International Olympic committee had already awarded the 1928 renewal to Amsterdam, Holland. Los Angeles in 1932 will have the honor of holding the second Olympics in the United States as St. Louis had them in 1904.

JESS SWEETSER

A three cornered argument threatens among the New York, Massachusetts, and New Jersey boxing commission over Floyd Johnson signing for bouts. Chairman Muldoon, of the New York body, has ordered him not to engage in any fights between now and May 12, when he is to meet Jess Willard, under penalty of being barred in this state. Boston claims he agreed to fight Fred Fulton there April 16, and he is signed to meet Fulton in New Jersey then.

Sport Briefs

More About Benton.

CHICAGO, April 9.—News from New York that President John Heydler had retracted his stand against the reinstatement of Pitcher Rube Benton, of the Cincinnati club by Commissioner Landis, was treated lightly by baseball men here today. Commissioner Landis declared that in his mind, the statements against the reinstatement of Benton attributed to Heydler were over-rated and that the National League head had not set his mind against the clearing of the big pitcher for play in the National League.

By ELTON

Jack was very much pleased over the fancy parading of his little friends, the Jelly Beans. And when he told them he was going to leave them they said they would do one more trick. This time they formed into a circular line that spelled Flip. Then they bid Jack goodby and marched away.

"Shall we follow the Jelly Beans or shall we go over to Sugar Forest?" shouted a tiny little voice. Jack looked around and said, "Who asked me that?" "Here I am," answered the little voice. And looking down Jack saw a funny square candy. "I'm a piece of fudge," said this sweetment.

"Well, little Fudge," laughed Jack, "if you will lead the way to Sugar Forest, I would be glad to follow you." And as Fudge started, Jack called Caramel and Flip and trailed along behind. On the way Fudge told Jack that he would introduce him to Maple Sugar and Lump Sugar. (Continued.)

COTTON MARKET

New York Cotton

NEW YORK, April 10.—The cotton market opened at an advance of 8 to 22 points owing to the continued firmness of Liverpool and reports of unsettled weather conditions in the south. May sold up to 30.04 and July to 29.25 on the call but at these prices the market again met considerable scattering near month liquidation which had an unsettling effect during the early trading. May eased off to 29.93, or about 11 points from the bells, and there were small reactions in the crop months under scattering liquidation. The tone of the market was steadied by favorable Liverpool cables with private advices reporting a good export demand and a little improvement in Manchester but the reappearance of scattering liquidation around the 30-cent level seemed to discourage fresh buying for long account.

The cotton market was more or less unsettled later in the morning owing to a continuance of scattering near month liquidation and the failure of bullish weather and cable news to inspire a more general demand. May contracts eased off to 29.78 and October to 25.65 or a point or two under yesterday's closing and prices were about net unchanged to two points lower at midday.

Cotton closed steady.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, April 10.—Continued unfavorable weather over the belt, a much better Liverpool market than due and reports of more demand for spots in the interior, from both Liverpool and Bremen, combined to put the price of cotton higher today. In the first half hour the trading months were sent 7 to 22 points higher than the close of yesterday. May rose to 29.47 and October to 25.32.

Private messages indicating that planting was making fair headway in localities as far north as north and northwest Texas and north Louisiana had the effect of checking the upward movement of prices and of causing moderate setbacks. Late in the morning the trading positions were five points up to six points down, compared with the close of yesterday. May fell off to 29.31 and October to 25.14.

What most brokers considered was the liquidation of the long interest, mainly resulting from the spreading northward in the belt of planting, caused softness in the afnoon. At 1:30 o'clock prices 22 to 25 points under yesterday's final quotations.

Cotton futures closed steady at net declines of 22 to 33 points:

GRAIN AND PRODUCE

CHICAGO, April 10.—Largely as a result of profit taking sales wheat took a downward swing in price today during the early dealings. The selling was given impetus by assertions that after five days advance something of a setback was to be expected. It was also contended that the government figures on winter wheat conditions were probably the lowest that would be reported this season. The opening, which varied from ¼c decline to ¼c advance, May $1.23⅛ to ⅛ and July $1.20⅞ to ⅞ was followed by a decided general decline and then a moderate rally.

Further declines took place later, notwithstanding the buying at times was rather aggressive. The close was unsettled, 1 cent to 2¼ cents net lower, May 1.21⅞ to ⅞ and July 1.11⅝ to ¾.

Corn and oats receded with wheat. After opening unchanged to ¼c lower, May 78⅛ to ⅛c, corn underwent a decline all around, with free selling on the part of scattered longs.

Better weather was a bearish influence. The close was unsettled at 1.2¼c net decline, May 77⅞ to 78c.

Oats started unchanged to ¼c@¼c off, May 46 to ⅛c. Later all deliveries showed some loss.

Higher quotations on hogs were reflected by a rise in the provision market.

STOCKS AND FINANCIAL

NEW YORK, April 10.—Further irregularity took place at the opening of today's stock market, early gains and losses being about evenly divided. Slight improvement was noted in such recent industrial favorites as Baldwin, American Can, Mack Truck, Studebaker, the Pan-American issues, Phillips Petroleum and Crucible Steel. Missouri Pacific preferred, Maryland Oil and May Department Stores were heavy.

Despite the announcement of an 11 per cent increase in the steel industry wages, most of the steel shares moved to higher ground. Crucible forfeited its early gain and dropped back ¾ of a point, but U. S. Steel opened ¼ higher and Gulf States, Sloss-Sheffield and Iron Products advanced ½ to ¾. Gains of a point each were registered by American Waterworks common and six per cent preferred, Atlantic Refining and Phillips Petroleum. International Paper yielded a point on publication of a relatively poor 1922 earnings report. Losses of a point or more were established by Maxwell Motors A, Willys-Overland preferred, Woolworth and U. S. Realty.

The market was sensitive to pressure in afternoon. Disappointment over the failure of the list to respond to the sharp rise after midday in Baldwin, American Locomotive, Republic Steel, New York Central, Rock Island and Wabash preferred A, caused discouragement to the bulls and they threw over stocks which they had bought for a turn. Baldwin reacted from 140 to below 138 and a considerable number of other favorites ruled 1 to 2 points below yesterday's final figures.

Closed heavy; sales 825,000 shares.

TWO ESCAPED CONVICTS SHOT AND WOUNDED AND THIRD MAN IS CAPTURED

PALESTINE, TEXAS, April 10.—Two escaped convicts were shot and seriously wounded and another captured unhurt by Sheriff Rogers and two deputies after an exchange of shots with the fugitives four miles south of Palestine last night. The men escaped from the Eastham prison farm near Huntsville and were traveling northward in a stolen automobile when intercepted by the officers. A running fight followed. J. A. Franks, alias Walter Shanks, serving nine years from Dallas, and Jewel Hale, a life termer from Waco, were shot. They are in a hospital here and probably will recover. The third man was Sam Cates of Lubbock, serving sixteen years for murder.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS OF SCHOOLS TO CONFER

AUSTIN, April 10.—Call for a statewide conference of county superintendents here on April 19, was issued today by State Superintendent Marrs. The purpose of the conference, Marrs said, is to consider educational problems and legislative matters.

TEXHOMA WELL MAKES TWO HUNDRED BARRELS

With indications of making 200 barrels or better the Texhoma Refining Company's No. 1 well in section 2, Kemp-Kemper lands, was finished afternoon in the sand at 1760 feet.

PANHANDLE REFINING CO. HAS A GOOD PRODUCER

The Panhandle Refining Company completed another good producer on the southeast section of their 60-acre lease on the Ferguson tract Monday and is flowing by heads at the rate of 200 barrels.

CHILSON TRACT TEST SHOWING LITTLE OIL

The Gulf Production Company's test on the Chilson tract about five miles south of Iowa Park was drilled into Monday afternoon and showed very little oil which was accompanied with a plentiful supply of salt water.

CASING IS SET IN TWO COMET PETROLEUM WELLS

In the Freeman Hampton section the Comet Petroleum Company has set casing on their No. 13 test at 1580 feet, and have also set casing on the 1700 foot pay which is showing good oil at 1720 feet. This is practically an offset to the Haynes well which is still producing 300 barrels. The wells will be bailed and completed in the next few days.

MOVING IN MACHINERY FOR A 2,000 FOOT TEST

Roy I. Carter is moving in machinery today for the drilling of a 2,000 foot deep test located in block 53 Kemp-Kemper tract in the Wichita Valley farm lands.

FLOWING BY HEADS 250 BARRELS DAILY

Flowing by heads at the rate of 250 barrels daily the No. 3 well of Staley-Wynn-Ferguson offsetting the big Featherston (Haynes) well to the northwest was completed Sunday in the 1700 foot pay.

HUNDRED BARREL WELL ON M. T. CROPPER LAND

In the shallow field southeast of Burkburnett Staley-Wynn-Fowler brought in a nice 100 barrel well on the M. T. Cropper land from the sand at 1276 feet.

Personals

W. B. Hamilton of the Texhoma Oil & Refining Company left Monday for Galveston where he will attend a meeting of the Western Petroleum refiners to be held in the Hotel Galvez at that city.

J. L. McMahon of the Texas Company is in Fort Worth on business matters.

F. J. Holmes of the Comet Petroleum Company is here looking after the affairs in the district.

POTENTATE COLLIER ISSUES AN URGENT CALL FOR SHRINERS

Potentate Collier of Maskat Temple has an SOS call out for Tuesday night's meeting of the Shrine, stating its importance demands the presence of all the uniformed bodies and those connected in any way with the forthcoming circus. Business of importance will be transacted at this meeting to which the cooperation of all is an important matter.

The meeting will be held in Faith Masonic Lodge rooms beginning at 7:30 p. m.

M'CURDY APPOINTED COUNTY ATTORNEY OF WILBARGER COUNTY

VERNON, April 10.—The commissioners court of Wilbarger County appointed O. O. McCurdy county attorney to succeed John A. Storey who resigned to accept the position of district attorney.

Mr. McCurdy will qualify at once and assume the duties of the office. County court is in session and there are a number of criminal cases on the docket to be tried. The third Monday of April has been set for the calling of the criminal docket of the county court.

TRUSTEES ELECTED FOR SCHOOLS AT SEYMOUR

SEYMOUR, TEXAS, April 10.—In the school trustee election held here last Saturday for the Seymour schools, A. J. McNeill, Roy K. Whiteside, H. R. McDavid and W. H. Nichols, Jr., were selected by the voters out of six contestants. There were no issues involved in the election and not more than 250 votes were poled. The holdovers from the old board are O. P. Caldwell, E. A. Rogers and A. Power.

Superintendent J. F. Kemp, incumbent for the past three years has been retained for the future year's work and his record has been very gratifying.

West Texas Construction Company. Forms for costs and assessments submitted by the city engineer were adopted and a public hearing called for April 30.

Bids opened several weeks ago for the contract to furnish the city with fuel, oil, gas and grease for the city use, were reconsidered Monday night and the contract awarded to the Texhoma Oil and Refining Company. It is estimated that a substantial saving can be affected by the purchase of these supplies by contract.

Sewer Extension

A motion was made and passed to install a sanitary sewer at Lee and Adams streets to connect with the sewer in the next block on Lee street. The sewer extension will serve five or six families.

Upon recommendation of S. M. Black, presiding elder of this diocese of the Methodist Church, the council appointed a committee to investigate and report on the condition of the Southside Methodist Church. It was pointed out in the statement by Rev. Black that the church was considered unsafe for public meetings until repaired. The investigation will be made and the property will be condemned if found unsafe.

A permit was granted to operate a grocery in Scotland addition at Sixth and Highland. The public hearing called for Monday night failed to bring any protests against the opening of the store.

The council voted to send Fire Chief J. L. McClure as city representative to the convention of Texas Fire Chiefs in San Marcos, May 8-10.

Extend Water Mains

Commissioner Burton Stayton recommended the extension of the city water mains in the factory district and on Smarch and Virginia streets. The extensions will be made at a cost of $4,642.80 and will serve approximately 75 customers. These extensions and fire plugs were requested by the residents several months ago:

On Kemp blvd. from Avenue N. to Avenue Q., 1040 feet of 6-inch, $1,560.

On Kemp blvd. from Avenue Q. to Avenue R., 600 feet of 2-inch, $240.

Fire plug at Kemp blvd. and Avenue Q., $125.

Total to serve 20 customers, $1,945.

On Filmore from Avenue N., to Avenue Q., 1,000 feet of 6-inch, $1,500.

On Filmore from Avenue Q., to Avenue R., 480 feet of 2-inch, $192.

Fire plug at Filmore and Avenue O., $125.

Total to serve 20 customers, $1,817.

Avenue O., Filmore to Polk on Taylor to Avenue Q. and on Ave. Q. from Taylor to Polk, 1,500 feet of 2-in., to serve 15 customers, $600.80.

On Virginia from Galveston to Chester, 400 feet of 2-inch, $160.

Samrsh from Magnolia to Holliday, 300 feet of 2-inch, $120.

Total extensions, $4,642.80.

MAKING PROGRESS ON THE PANHANDLE AND GULF RAILWAY

SEYMOUR, TEXAS, April 10.—The ultimate building of the Texas, Panhandle & Gulf Railroad from Seymour to Tucumcari, New Mexico, with a rail distance of 410 miles is rapidly assuming definite proportions. The road has been surveyed across the entire line to Tucumcari and has been cross-sectioned from Seymour to Silverton, Texas. E. J. Parks, secretary of the Tulia Chamber of Commerce, and J. S. Engleman, editor of the Tulia Herald, were visitors here Monday in the interest of the road and say that Col. C. H. Powell of Chicago, prime mover in the project has announced that a corps of engineers will begin cross-sectioning the last lap of the proposed railroad from Silverton to Tucumcari during the latter part of the week.

The proposed railroad traverses a virgin territry and will originate vast freight tonnage which will thus be diverted from northern and western markets to Texas markets.

IDEAL WEATHER IS REPORTED BY ALL RAILROAD AGENTS

Ideal weather conditions were reported by railroad agents on all local lines Tuesday morning. A clear sky, south wind and higher temperature readings were included in all the dispatches.

Locally the mercury reached the 80 degree mark Monday afternoon and during the night fell to 52 degrees. A warm sun early Tuesday however started the thermometer upward and it was indicative that the high mark of Monday night be superseded.

Farmers throughout this section of the state are crying for rain and many reports that the wheat crop is suffering due to the lack of moisture. Nothing was reported Tuesday morning which would indicate that rain was imminent.

PLAINTIFF WINS SUIT IN U. S. DISTRICT COURT

The Burrell Engineering and Construction Company was given a judgment in the United States district court Tuesday morning by a jury against J. C. Hunt for $4,000 and interest at the rate of 6 per cent dating back from October 1, 1922. The suit grew out of the construction of the concrete elevator at Sixth and Lee streets.

FORM LIVE STOCK ASSOCIATION AT FREDERICK MONDAY

The Southwestern Oklahoma Live Stock Association was formed Monday at a meeting of live stock owners held at Frederick, Okla., County Agent Guy R. Jones and Merl Waggoner were the delegates from Wichita Falls.

The counties represented at the meeting included Wilbarger and Wichita counties of Texas and Jackson, Tillman, Kiowa, Comanche and Cotton counties of Oklahoma.

It is the plan of the organization to promote the raising of more pure bred cattle in southwest Oklahoma and northwest Texas. The association will hold two shows each year, one at the Texas-Oklahoma fair in this city in the fall and one at Frederick in the spring. In addition to this, shows will be given in each of the counties once a year.

The board of directors elected Monday is composed of: H. A. Blevins, Oklaunion; M. L. Sharp, Vernon; George D. Keith and Merl Waggoner, Wichita Falls; L. H. Miller, Heydrick, Okla.; B. W. Thomas, Altus; George Degl, Hobart, Okla., W. E. Wiggern, Chattanooga; J. A. Collier, Lawton; Clyde Ingnam and C. B. Gummell of Devol; L. L. Kinder, Hollister; William Randolph, W. S. Duemm, J. H. Capps, and H. H. Hazlett, of Frederick; A. H. Ryan, and H. C. Clapp of Hollister.

APPOINT NEW MEMBERS VERNON SCHOOL BOARD

VERNON, April 10.—The city commission met in regular session today and W. W. Bennett and E. M. Rogers were sworn in as commissioners.

Their first official act was to appoint three new members of the school board to take the places of the three trustees whose terms expired. S. D. Ashenhurst, John Morris and J. O. Rouse were appointed to succeed E. M. Rhodes, R. P. L. Killough, and T. L. Rouse. Under the city charter a member can only serve two consecutive terms.

W. P. BELCHER APPOINTED DEPUTY SHERIFF TUESDAY

W. P. Belcher, who was relieved from duty on the city police force Monday night was deputized as a deputy sheriff Tuesday morning. His commission was filed with the county clerk Tuesday morning and he immediately assumed his new duties.

Your system demands ALL BRAN if constipation is to be relieved!

Your system needs the "roughage" that Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, supplies. For, it will not only permanently relieve constipation if it is eaten regularly, but its full-content of the vital elements of wheat will build health and strength in a wonderful way.

You need bran in its full and beneficial strength and that's what you get in Kellogg's Bran—ALL BRAN! You eat Kellogg's for relief and you will get relief in a way that nature planned. Foods with a bran mixture cannot help the man, woman or child who faces grave illness through constipation. You must have ALL BRAN—"roughage" that will sweep and clean and purify and bring health back!

Children should be given Kellogg's Bran each day; grown people should eat Kellogg's each day—at least two tablespoonfuls, in chronic cases with each meal. Its mechanical action will afford permanent relief.

And, you will find Kellogg's Bran a delight to eat because it is so delicious. As a cereal, sprinkled on other hot or cold cereals, or used in countless bakery batches or in cooking, its nut-like flavor will thrill your appetite—and each spoonful means so much in permanently relieving constipation and in warding off this gravest national ailment. Kellogg recipes are printed on each package.

Start the entire family eating Kellogg's Bran to-day. See the color come back to faded cheeks; see the snap that will go into lagging steps. Kellogg's Bran is wonderful. All grocers sell it!

More Light— Better Business For the Publisher

THE more light the publisher gives the advertiser on his publication—the greater consideration he receives when it comes to placing advertising.

The facts embodied in an A. B. C. report are those which the advertiser wants to know—facts that he must know to buy space intelligently. He cannot afford the time or expense necessary to collect them either by correspondence with the publisher or by financing his own investigation.

Therefore, the uniform, easily-accessible A. B. C. form, packed with complete dependable facts, is a ready solution to the problem of how to locate the most desirable mediums with the minimum of effort and epenses.

The long-established commercial rating agencies have furnished financial information for years. Banks are audited periodically. The Audit Bureau of Circulations performs a similar function by collecting and certifying circulation information for the advertiser.

Publishers subscribing to the A. B. C. standards are helping to stabilize and organize advertising in the way that, by long experience in other commercial lines, has proved to be Good Business.

The Times is a member of the A. B. C. and would be pleased to submit a copy of the latest circulation report.
